FRENCH BELIEVE TUNISIA ABLE TO RESIST ATTACKS

OASIS OF GABES, Tunis, Dec. 17—(UP)—High French military authorities were convinced today, after three days of combined army and air force maneuvers, that the defense system of Tunisia is almost impregnable against an Italian attack.

The maneuvers were said to have shown that any Tunisian oasis could be converted into a fortress against surprise attacks by air or sea. This oasis is typical of all in the maneuvers here, Tunisian and several thousand Senegalese infantrymen, hundreds of crack Sahli cavalymen and many aviation technicians took part.

That is called a Tunisian magnet line, built to defend against an Italian attack, is a wide belt of fortifications extending southward from the sea to the mountains. It is expected to withstand any attack from Italian Libya to the East.

TWO NEW DEAL CHIEFS TO MAP WORK FOR 1939

Some Hint Vice President May Demand Changes In Roosevelt Policies

TALK OF IMPORTANCE

Texan Expected To Seek Party Nomination At Next Convention

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(UP)—Vice President Garner returned to the capital today for a conference with President Roosevelt preparatory to start of the 76th congress on January 3.

Apparently in the best of health and in a jolly mood, Garner and his wife stepped from a train at Union station into national political prominence after a sojourn of several months at his home in Uvalde, Texas.

Garner waved aside most questions concerning national politics with the comment: "No news today."

The vice president and his wife, met by the Secretary of the Senate Edwin S. Halsey, went directly to their residential suite at the Washington hotel. Garner later will go to his senate office and then to the White House for his conference with the President.

First, the vice president will be a guest at luncheon of Mr. Roosevelt's committee studying plans to will the Roosevelt Hyde Park estate to the government as a permanent memorial.

MATRON DENIES ANNA TRIED TO CHOKE SON, 12

COLUMBUS, Dec. 17—(UP)—Reports that Anna Marie Hahn, poison slayer, had tried to strangle her 12 year old son, Oscar, a few hours before she was electrocuted Dec. 7, were denied today by Mrs. Esther A. Lyle, the matron who guarded her the time she entered a death cell until she died.

The report was attributed to Mrs. Rene Tipple, another matron, who, said that Mrs. Hahn grabbed her son while in a hysterical rage and that it was necessary for Mrs. Tipple and the prison chaplain to rescue the boy.

Mrs. Lyle, who was in the cell at the time, said that Mrs. Hahn was grief-stricken at the necessity of bidding a last farewell to her son but that she made no attempt to harm the boy.

"She did not want to part with him and tried to hold on to him," Mrs. Lyle said, "but there was no attempt to strangle him or harm him."

COSTER - MUSICA KEPT 7,500 ON JOBS, SAYS HIS BROTHER IN JAIL

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 17—(UP)—George Musica, alias George Dietrich, made the following enigmatic comment today on the suicide of his brother "F. Donald Coster."

"Probably the worst thing they can say about the poor soul is that he kept 7,500 people working for the last eight years."

That was his answer when Sheriff J. Edward Slavin asked him what he thought about the suicide. Slavin described Musica as being in a "highly nervous" condition when he was taken to the county jail last night.

"He went to sleep late, but I think he got a good night's rest," Slavin said.

To Die by Gas

FOUND guilty of slaying his pretty redheaded wife in Cheyenne, Wyo., Stanley S. Lantzer, 36-year-old railroad man, now awaits death in the lethal gas chamber of the Wyoming state penitentiary at Rock Springs. The trial attracted wide attention as the murdered woman's own mother pleaded for leniency in Lantzer's behalf.

FOREIGN POLICY OF BRITAIN MAY BECOME STRICT

LONDON, Dec. 17—(UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain has begun to stiffen British foreign policy as regards Germany and Italy, it was asserted today in well-informed political quarters.

It was believed that a debate on foreign affairs in the house of commons Monday, when the Labor party is to propose a stinging vote of censure against the government, might bring statements from government speakers indicating that Adolph Hitler and Benito Mussolini would find it now more difficult to extract concessions from the democracies than in the last few months.

The disclosure by an authoritative source yesterday that Chamberlain, when he visits Mussolini in mid-January, would insist on withdrawal of more Italian troops from Spain before the Spanish Nationalists are accorded belligerent status, with consequent rights of blockade, was taken as confirmation of the belief that British policy was hardening.

'NUMBERS' SEND FOUR PERSONS TO CITY COURT

Four Circleville residents were arrested by police Friday and Saturday on charges of participating in the "numbers" game.

Clyde Weaver, E. Corwin street, and Mrs. Donald Morris, E. Mill street, posted $50 bond each to report Saturday at 7 p. m. H. O. Eysland, N. Court street, was to report at the same time. Merle Davis, Circleville, posted $50 bond Saturday morning to report in court later.

In recent months those arrested in "numbers" cases have forfeited their bonds.

Yeggs Break Into Bank, But Disturb Nothing; 'Mistake' Theory Advanced

Would-be robbers entered the Third National bank Friday night. Two doors, one of iron bars and the other of wood, were pried open to gain entrance to a rear hall. Nothing in the bank was disturbed.

Clark Will, president of the bank, and investigating officers believe the robbers were confused concerning the establishment they were entering. They believe the robbers made a hurried exit when they found they were in the bank, which is equipped with modern burglar proof equipment.

Davey May Call Solons To Confirm His Choices For Several Ohio Posts

COLUMBUS, Dec. 17—(UP)—Rumors were revived today that Governor Davey is again considering a special session of the "lame-duck" legislature to obtain senate confirmation of at least two appointments before he leaves office.

Latest speculation was that the governor might recall the general assembly sometime between Christmas and New Year's day. Earlier this week it was intimated that efforts would be made to get only senators back on December 31 to confirm appointments.

A last day session could be held in conformity with the government order of July 24, 1937 proroguing a special session to Dec. 31.

The governor presumably would base his call on the need for dealing with school finances. His critics holding that little could be done for the schools in so short a time, contended the real reason was to win confirmation of key appointments that have been blocked by the "hatchet men" faction of the senate.

The governor was reported eager to have Charles Lease, Zanewille, confirmed in his appointment to the state unemployment insurance commission which carries a $6,000 salary and to name a successor to Thomas M. Gregory, Cincinnati, on the state industrial commission. Gregory's term has expired.

Mayor Acts To Aid Store Operators And Shoppers During Holidays

Orders were issued to the police department Saturday by Mayor W. B. Cady to cease enforcing two-hour parking regulations in the downtown district until after Christmas.

Purpose of the order was to give visitors more time for their Christmas shopping.

"If merchants and clerks of the city take advantage of the order to park their cars in front of stores, keeping their customers from having a place to park, they need not expect to have this favor extended on another occasion," the mayor said. "The order is for the benefit of the merchants and their customers. Remember, enforcement of the regulations will start again on Dec. 26."

EX-OFFICIAL OF STATE RETURNS TO OHIO PRISON

COLUMBUS, Dec. 17—(UP)—W. Merle Cortner, 49, former clerk in the state treasurer's office who was paroled from Ohio penitentiary a month ago, was held in the Franklin county jail today for investigation of information that he acted as outside "contact man" for prisoners.

Cortner was arrested Dec. 5 on the technical charge of parole violation, Prosecutor Ralph Bartlett said.

He was admitted to the penitentiary Oct. 31, 1935, after pleading guilty to embezzlement of $637 while a bond clerk in the treasurer's office. He was paroled Nov. 15.

Bartlett said he had information that Cortner was "working on the outside for certain convicts in the penitentiary to take care of loot that they had secreted before their imprisonment."

Barbara's Next?

LONDON drawing-room rumor has it that Robert Sweeney (above), native San Franciscan, now a resident of London, will be the next husband of Countess Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, five-and-ten heiress. If she wed Sweeney, after being freed from her Danish count, Barbara would regain her American citizenship, which she is said to long for. Sweeney was British amateur golf champion in 1937.

HULL'S PROPOSAL FOR SOLIDARITY BEING STUDIED

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 17—(UP)—A United States compromise proposal calling for continental solidarity and united defense against an outside aggressor was circulated today among delegates to the eighth Pan-American conference. The proposal was a revision of one drafted by the Argentine delegation.

It was understood that the United States draft was called the "Declaration of Lima" and that it was divided into two parts, the first dealing with collaboration and cooperation for development of trade, cultural and other peaceful relations, the second concerning common defense against an aggressor.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull sought to obtain unanimous consent to any final draft before a resolution was presented to the conference formally, feeling that if there were any objections from even one nation the resolution could hardly be one of real continental solidarity.

ASHVILLE BOARD OPENS BIDS FOR SCHOOL PROJECT

Ashville board of education will meet at 7:30 p. m., Saturday for further consideration of bids on a two room addition to the elementary school.

The board met Friday afternoon to accept bids. Three were received for the general contract, four for the electrical work and one for heating.

The two-room brick addition would be added to the south wing of the school. One room would be used for a special education class, the other for a storeroom until the time arrives when it will be needed for classroom purposes.

Board members reported the estimated cost on the addition is $3,100 on which a federal grant of $3,325 has been obtained from the Public Works Administration.

ALLISON FOR JUDGE

COLUMBUS, Dec. 17—(UP)—Governor Davey, it was disclosed today, has offered an appointment to a vacant judgeship on the Columbus municipal court bench to his state finance director, M. Ray Allison.

DRUG COMPANY STOCKHOLDERS LOSE MILLIONS

Gun Running, Promotion Of Gran Chaco War Blamed On Brothers

FOUR INQUIRIES STARTED

Adulteration Of Quinine Investigated Three Months By U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(UP)—Federal authorities feared today that 13,500 stockholders would lose $20,000,000 through the manipulation of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., gigantic drug firm organized by the Musica brothers, who hid their criminal records under new names and duped the master minds of Wall Street for 10 years.

Philip, the "big brother" and arch-schemer, who took the name F. Donald Coster and was president of the corporation, killed himself yesterday when he was exposed and trapped.

His three brothers, minor executives in the firm, were in jail unable to provide $100,000 bonds.

Evidences that the brothers had used the firm to run guns to Bolivia and Spain, to bootleg, and to adulterate drugs, engulfed the survivors in a storm of federal and state investigations. The ramifications reached such magnitude that the New York attorney general's office closed its public hearing to take testimony in secret of charges that somebody concerned had supplied arms to Bolivia for its war with Paraguay in the Gran Chaco, with the object of cornering the Bolivian quinine market.

Quinine Adulterated
The lust for money apparently did not end there. The U. S. department of agriculture reported that McKesson-Robbins had been cited on charges of adulterating quinine.

The suicide of Coster-Musica hampered the investigation. He was the crooked genius and concocter of fantastic schemes which had several times before involved him and his family in such things as the "human hair" swindle of 25 years ago; a cheese smuggling enterprise; an international bank draft swindle.

He shot himself dead in the bathroom of his luxurious mansion at Fairfield, Conn., after his fingerprints had exposed him as a former convict and United States marshals were in the yard, coming to seize him. He took the way out of great swindlers before him: Ivar Kreuger, the Swedish match king; Alexandre Stavisky, the Frenchman whose swindle nearly brought down the Third French republic.

Present indications were that the brothers, Philip at least, had caused an $18,000,000 shortage in the listed assets of the firm. This was the valuation of the crude drugs department which was found to be non-existent except in name. Its assets were supposed to include six warehouses stocked with supplies in Canada, worth $10,000,000, and $8,000,000 in bills payable to the department from firms all over the world.

TOBACCO MEN OF 14 STATES VOTE ON A. A. A. PLANS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(UP)—Tobacco farmers in 14 states vote today to accept or reject government-set marketing quotas for their products.

The referendum is being watched closely because of its political significance. Less than three weeks a new congress, more than ever hostile to the New Deal's agricultural program, will convene.

An estimated 325,000 growers are eligible to vote on the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act relating to burley, fire-cured and air-cured tobacco within 48 hours after Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said in his annual report that a "more or less" permanent system of crop control is necessary for the welfare of agriculture.

The outcome of the election is in doubt. A two-thirds majority of those voting is necessary to permit enforcement of the quotas. Last week 250,000 fire-cured tobacco farmers rejected quotas on 1939 crops. It is conceded that any favorable majority today would be less than the 85 percent approval given last year.

One of the major objections to the A. A. A. as applied to tobacco is the failure of marketing quotas during the current year to correspond to acreage allotments.

MOVIE COLONY SPEEDS FILM OF MUSICA'S LIFE

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 17—(UP)—At least one of Hollywood studios, ever ready to cash in on newspaper headlines, rushed work today on a movie version of the fabulous life of Philip Musica, the swindling genius of the McKesson & Robbins case, who killed himself.

FRENCH BELIEVE TUNISIA ABLE TO RESIST ATTACKS

OASIS OF GABES, Tunis, Dec. 17—(UP)—High French military authorities were convinced today, after three days of combined army and air force maneuvers, that the defense system of Tunisia is almost impregnable against an Italian attack.

The maneuvers were said to have shown that any Tunisian Oasid could be converted into a fortress against surprise attacks by air or sea. This oasis is typical of all. In the maneuvers here, Tunisian and several thousand Senegalese infantrymen, hundreds of crack Spahi cavalrymen and many aviation technicians took part.

That is called a Tunisian maginot line, built to defend against an Italian attack, is a wide belt of fortifications extending southward from the sea to the mountains. It is expected to withstand any attack from Italian Libya to the East.

F. D., Garner in Vital Confab

TWO NEW DEAL CHIEFS TO MAP WORK FOR 1939

Some Hint Vice President May Demand Changes In Roosevelt Policies

TALK OF IMPORTANCE

Texas Expected To Seek Party Nomination At Next Convention

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(UP)—Vice President Garner returned to the capital today for a conference with President Roosevelt preparatory to start of the 76th congress on January 3.

Apparently in the best of health and in a jolly mood, Garner and his wife stepped from a train at Union station into national political prominence after a sojourn of several months at his home in Uvalde, Texas.

Garner waved aside most questions concerning national politics with the comment: "No news today."

The vice president and his wife, met by the Secretary of the Senate Edwin S. Halsey, went directly to their residential suite at the Washington hotel. Garner later will go to his senate office and then to the White House for his conference with the President.

First, the vice president will be a guest at luncheon of Mr. Roosevelt's committee studying plans to will the Roosevelt Hyde Park estate to the government as a permit.

MATRON DENIES ANNA TRIED TO CHOKE SON, 12

COLUMBUS, Dec. 17—(UP)—Reports that Anna Marie Hahn, poison slayer, had tried to strangle her 12 year old son, Oscar, a few hours before she was electrocuted Dec. 7, were denied today by Mrs. Esther A. Lyle, the matron who guarded her the time she entered a death cell until she died.

The report was attributed to Mrs. Rene Tipple, another matron, who said that Mrs. Hahn grabbed her son while in a hysterical rage and that it was necessary for Mrs. Tipple and the prison chaplain to rescue the boy.

Mrs. Lyle, who was in the cell at the time, said that Mrs. Hahn was grief-stricken at the necessity of bidding a last farewell to her son but that she made no attempt to harm the boy.

"She did not want to part with him and tried to hold on to him," Mrs. Lyle said, "but there was no attempt to strangle him or harm him."

COSTER - MUSICA KEPT 7,500 ON JOBS, SAYS HIS BROTHER IN JAIL

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 17—(UP)—George Musica, alias George Dietrich, made the following enigmatic comment today on the suicide of his brother "F. Donald Coster."

"Probably the worst thing they can say about the poor soul is that he kept 7,500 people working for the last eight years."

That was his answer when Sheriff J. Edward Slavin asked him what he thought about the suicide. Slavin described Musica as being in a "highly nervous" condition when he was taken to the county jail last night.

"He went to sleep late, but I think he got a good night's rest," Slavin said.

To Die by Gas

FOUND guilty of slaying his pretty redhaired wife in Cheyenne, Wyo., Stanley S. Lantzer, 36-year-old railroad man, now awaits death in the lethal gas chamber of the Wyoming state penitentiary at Rock Springs. The trial attracted wide attention as the murdered woman's own mother pleaded for leniency in Lantzer's behalf.

FOREIGN POLICY OF BRITAIN MAY BECOME STRICT

LONDON, Dec. 17—(UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain has begun to stiffen British foreign policy as regards Germany and Italy, it was asserted today in well-informed political quarters.

It was believed that a debate on foreign affairs in the house of commons Monday, when the Labor party is to propose a stinging vote of censure against the government, might bring statements from government speakers indicating that Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini would find it now more difficult to extract concessions from the democracies than in the last few months.

The disclosure by an authoritative source yesterday that Chamberlain, when he visits Mussolini in mid-January, would insist on withdrawal of more Italian troops from Spain before the Spanish Nationalists are accorded belligerent status, with consequent rights of blockade, was taken as confirmation of the belief that British policy was hardening.

'NUMBERS' SEND FOUR PERSONS TO CITY COURT

Four Circleville residents were arrested by police Friday and Saturday on charges of participating in the "numbers" game.

Clyde Weaver E. Corwin street, and Mrs. Donald Morris, E. Mill street, posted $50 bond each to report Saturday at 7 p. m. H. O. Eveland, N. Court street, was to report at the same time. Merle Davis, Circleville, posted $50 bond Saturday morning to report in court later.

In recent months those arrested in "numbers" cases have forfeited their bonds.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 17—(UP)—George Musica, alias George Dietrich, made the following enigmatic comment today on the suicide of his brother "F. Donald Coster."

"Probably the worst thing they can say about the poor soul is that he kept 7,500 people working for the last eight years."

That was his answer when Sheriff J. Edward Slavin asked him what he thought about the suicide. Slavin described Musica as being in a "highly nervous" condition when he was taken to the county jail last night.

"He went to sleep late, but I think he got a good night's rest," Slavin said.

Davey May Call Solons To Confirm His Choices For Several Ohio Posts

COLUMBUS, Dec. 17—(UP)—Rumors were revived today that Governor Davey is again considering a special session of the "lame-duck" legislature to obtain senate confirmation of at least two appointments before he leaves office.

Latest speculation was that the governor might recall the general assembly sometime between Christmas and New Year's day. Earlier this week it was intimated that efforts would be made to get only senators back on December 31 to confirm appointments.

PARKING LIMIT LAW SUSPENDED

Mayor Acts To Aid Store Operators And Shoppers During Holidays

Orders were issued to the police department Saturday by Mayor W. B. Cady to cease enforcing two-hour parking regulations in the downtown district until after Christmas.

Purpose of the order was to give visitors more time for their Christmas shopping.

"If merchants and clerks of the city take advantage of the order to park their cars in front of stores, keeping their customers from having a place to park, they need not expect to have this favor extended on another occasion," the mayor said. "The order is for the benefit of the merchants and their customers. Remember, enforcement of the regulations will start again on Dec. 26."

EX-OFFICIAL OF STATE RETURNS TO OHIO PRISON

COLUMBUS, Dec. 17—(UP)—W. Merle Cortner, 49, former clerk in the state treasurer's office who was paroled from Ohio penitentiary a month ago, was held in the Franklin county jail today for investigation of information that he acted as outside "contact man" for prisoners.

Cortner was arrested Dec. 5 on the technical charge of parole violation, Prosecutor Ralph Bartlett said.

He was admitted to the penitentiary Oct. 31, 1935, after pleading guilty to embezzlement of $637 while a bond clerk in the treasurer's office. He was paroled Nov. 15.

Bartlett said he had information that Cortner was "working on the outside for certain convicts in the penitentiary to take care of loot that they had secreted before their imprisonment."

Barbara's Next?

LONDON drawing room rumor has it that Robert Sweeney (above), native San Franciscan, now a resident of London, will be the next husband of Countess Kurt Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, five-and-ten heiress. If she wed Sweeney, after being freed from her Danish count, Barbara would regain her American citizenship, which she is said to long for. Sweeney was British amateur golf champion in 1937.

The governor presumably would base his call on the need for dealing with school finances. His critics holding that little could be done for the schools in so short a time, contended the real reason was to win confirmation of key appointments that have been blocked by the "hatchet men" faction of the senate.

The governor was reported eager to have Charles Leasure, Zanesville, confirmed in his appointment to the state unemployment insurance commission which carries a $6,000 salary and to name a successor to Thomas M. Gregory, Cincinnati, on the state industrial commission. Gregory's term has expired.

The senate twice has blocked attempts to name his successor, having withheld confirmation of J. Freer Bittinger, Ashland, and Fred Pickens, Circleville.

Sen. Abe Laird, of Tuscarawas county, a strong administration supporter, has been mentioned for the industrial commission, and also State Treasurer Clarence H. Kniesly, who was defeated for re-election. Kniesly said, however, the governor had given him no assurance of the appointment.

TOBACCO MEN OF 14 STATES VOTE ON A. A. A. PLANS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17—(UP)—Tobacco farmers in 14 states vote today to accept or reject government-set marketing quotas for their products.

The referendum is being watched closely because of its political significance. Less than three weeks a new congress, more than ever hostile to the New Deal's agricultural program, will convene. An estimated 325,000 growers are eligible to vote on the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act relating to burlery, fire-cured and air-cured tobacco within 48 hours after Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said in his annual report that a "more or less" permanent system of crop control is necessary for the welfare of agriculture.

The outcome of the election is in doubt. A two-thirds majority of those voting is necessary to permit enforcement of the quotas. Last week 250,000 fire-cured tobacco farmers rejected quotas on 1939 crops. It is conceded that any favorable majority today would be less than the 85 percent approval given last year.

One of the major objections to the A. A. A. as applied to tobacco is the failure of marketing quotas during the current year to correspond to acreage allotments.

HULL'S PROPOSAL FOR SOLIDARITY BEING STUDIED

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 17—(UP)—A United States compromise proposal calling for continental solidarity and united defense against an outside aggressor was circulated today among delegates to the eighth Pan-American conference. The proposal was a revision of one drafted by the Argentine delegation.

It was understood that the United States draft was called the "Declaration of Lima" and that it was divided into two parts, the first dealing with collaboration and cooperation for development of trade, cultural and other peaceful relations, the second concerning common defense against an aggressor.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull sought to obtain unanimous consent to any final draft before a resolution was presented to the conference formally, feeling that if there were any objections from even one nation the resolution could hardly be one of real continental solidarity.

ASHVILLE BOARD OPENS BIDS FOR SCHOOL PROJECT

Ashville board of education will meet at 7:30 p. m., Saturday for further consideration of bids on a two room addition to the elementary school.

The board met Friday afternoon to accept bids. Three were received for the general contract, four for the electrical work and one for heating.

The two-room brick addition would be added to the south wing of the school. One room would be used for a special education class, the other for a storeroom until the time arrives when it will be needed for classroom purposes.

Board members reported the estimated cost on the addition is $8,100 on which a federal grant of $3,825 has been obtained from the Public Works Administration.

Members of the board are C. J. Rocky, president, Clayton Baum, P. L. Johnson, Donald Courtright, Stanley Beckett and W. E. Essick, clerk.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 17—(UP)—Governor Davey, it was disclosed today, has offered an appointment to a vacant judgeship on the Columbus municipal court bench to his state finance director, M. Ray Allison.

DRUG COMPANY STOCKHOLDERS LOSE MILLIONS

Gun Running, Promotion Of Gran Chaco War Blamed On Brothers

Adulteration Of Quinine Investigated Three Months By U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(UP)—Federal authorities feared today that 13,500 stockholders would lose $20,000,000 through the manipulation of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., gigantic drug firm organized by the Musica brothers, who hid their criminal records under new names and duped the master minds of Wall Street for 10 years.

Philip, the "big brother" and arch-schemer, who took the name F. Donald Coster and was president of the corporation, killed himself yesterday when he was exposed and trapped.

His three brothers, minor executives in the firm, were in jail unable to provide $100,000 bonds.

Evidence that the brothers had used the firm to run guns to Bolivia and Spain, to bootleg, and to adulterate drugs, engulfed the survivors in a storm of federal and state investigations. The ramifications reached such magnitude that the New York attorney general's office closed its public hearing to take testimony in secret of charges that somebody concerned had supplied arms to Bolivia for its war with Paraguay in the Gran Chaco, with the object of cornering the Bolivian quinine market.

Quinine Adulterated
The lust for money apparently did not end there. The U. S. department of agriculture reported that McKesson-Robbins had been cited on charges of adulterating quinine.

The suicide of Coster-Musica hampered the investigation. He was the crooked genius and concocter of fantastic schemes which had several times before involved him and his family in such things as the "human hair" swindle of 25 years ago; a cheese smuggling enterprise; an international bank draft swindle.

He shot himself dead in the bathroom of his luxurious mansion at Fairfield, Conn., after his fingerprints had exposed him as a former convict and United States marshals were in the yard, coming to seize him. He took the way out of great swindlers before him: Ivar Kreuger, the Swedish match king; Alexandre Stavisky, the Frenchman whose swindle nearly brought down the Third French republic.

Present indications were that the brothers, Philip at least, had caused an $18,000,000 shortage in the listed assets of the firm. This was the valuation of the crude drugs department which was found to be non-existent except in name. Its assets were supposed to include six warehouses stocked with supplies in Canada, worth $10,000,000, and $8,000,000 in bills payable to the department from firms all over the world.

Four Agencies Busy
As the affairs of McKesson and Robbins and the Musica brothers developed in scope today, four federal agencies were at work. The

RED, BLACK CAGERS HOLD CHILlicothe TO 17-10 EDGE IN ROUGH FRAY

SECOND PERIOD RELAPSE ENDS TIGER'S CHANCE

Numerous Uncalled Bodily Contact Fouls Impair C. H. S. Offensive

RESERVES COP, 24 TO 15

Lancaster Invades C. A. C. Court For Tuesday Battle

Outscored, outplayed and out-charged, Chillicothe high school Tigers went down to a valiant 17-10 defeat, Friday night at the hands of Chillicothe's Red Devils. The hundred or more Chillicothe fans who saw the game were not disappointed by the defeat, although many believed that Chillicothe could have won had the officials been closer in their check of bodily contact fouls.

Chillicothe beat the Tigers 30-11 last year.

The Tigers took a lead on the first tipoff when Paul Walters dropped a swisher through the net from about the foul zone. A fast going-away shot by Warren Baumgartner gave the Tigers four points and a lead of 4-3 at the end of the first period.

The second session saw the downfall of the Red and Black. The Tigers became excited for a few minutes just before the end of the half to permit the Chillicotheans to drop in three fast buckets and take a lead of 10-4 at the end of the session.

Last Half Hard Fought

The third and fourth periods were hard fought, neither team giving any quarter. The Red and Black came within one point of matching the Ross counts in the last sessions, time after time having the ball in the net only to have it fall the wrong direction. The Tigers had difficulty getting through the Chillicotheans especially after the Red Devils gained a lead and refused to come out after the ball.

Dean Brooks, co-captain of the Chillicotheans starred for his club, getting seven points and playing a good floor game. Chillicothe's scoring was divided among Davis, Baumgartner and Walters.

The Tiger reserves made the Chillicotheans unhappy by piling up a 24-15 victory. Coach Roy Black used 15 boys against the home club, the Chillicothe mentor even suggesting in the final period that the game be cut short. Since it isn't often that Chillicothe has much fun at Chillicothe, Black refused saying that while his boys were enjoying themselves he didn't see any reason to stop their carrying on.

Lancaster Comes Tuesday

Lancaster high's varsity, defeated by a strong Bexley team Friday evening, invades Chillicothe Tuesday evening for one of the big games of the season. Coach Ray Coleman of Lancaster scouted the Tigers in the Amanda game, but learned nothing to carry back home since Amanda did about all the playing that they, Coleman, it will be remembered, refereed the football game here last fall which saw the officials gain twice as much ground as either Chillicothe or Frankfort.

There is a possibility that Chillicothe will book a home game during the holidays although nothing definite has been decided.

CZAR TO DIRECT BOXING ADVISED BY SPORTSMEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(UP)—Boxing could use a "strong man" to rule on a national basis with power similar to that of Judge Kenesaw M. Landis over baseball, the nation's sports editors said today.

And the man for the job, they added, is Gene Tunney, retired undefeated heavyweight champion of the world.

Sixty-four of those voting in the annual United Press poll said "yes" in answer to this question: "Are you in favor of a national czar to control boxing?" Thirty-three percent said "no" and the remainder were non-committal.

If such a plan went into effect, all the editors agreed, the man who took the job would have to be a wise, tolerant, firm, honest and tireless worker.

"He would have to be a second Solomon," was the phrase voiced in many of the replies.

Tunney was mentioned most often as the man closest to all the requirements. Jack Dempsey's name appeared on several ballots.

Bermuda is 19.4 square miles in area.

JUG McSPADEN STILL IN LEAD FOR MIAMI GOLD

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 17—(UP)—Harold (Jug) McSpaden, pipe puffing pro from Winchester, Mass., had a chance to double his 1938 winnings as he began his third round today four strokes ahead of the field in the Miami Open Golf championship.

The 29 year old, sandy-haired easterner, never has been a big money winner, but this season has been one of his worst, grossing but $2,390 to date. His only victories were in the Massachusetts Open and New England P. G. A. Now he has an excellent opportunity to take the $2,500 top prize in this $10,000 event.

McSpaden, who fired a four under par 66 in the opening round, double-crossed the bookies who took him lightly, by shooting a 69 for a 135 total yesterday. He was the only player in the field of 200 who managed to put two sub-par rounds together, and the price-makers who quoted him at 16-1 before play began, then dropped him to 12-1 after the first 18 holes, announced today "we've got all we want on him."

Jimmy Thomson, blond blaster from Shawnee-on-Deleware, Pa., another pre-tourney 18-1 shot, hammered the odds against himself down to 4-1 when he followed his opening 68 with a 71 yesterday to take undisputed possession of second place with 139.

Phrenology, the science of the mind, was once called "cranioscopy" or "craniology."

ASHVILLE WINS EASY VICTORY OVER BULLDOGS

Broncos Remain On Top Loop; Washington Shows Power

Ashville's varsity cagers, on the way to their best year in Pickaway county athletics in a long while unless something unexpected happens, bumped New Holland's valiant Bulldogs Friday evening in a 44-15 game, the contest featuring play in the county loop. The Ashville boys comprise the only unbeaten team in the county.

The Pickaway Pirate threat will be faced next Tuesday evening on the Pickaway court in another test.

Ashville girls outlasted New Holland to win 9-7.

Washington showed a lot of power by turning back Walnut township 40-19 in a game played at Washington. When it is taken into consideration that Ashville was able to defeat Walnut by only six points, the stock of the Washington team soars. Leist, Wolf and DeLaVerne contributed 14, 10 and 10 points to the winner's column.

Walnut girls led by Burr salvaged their contest, 22-14.

Scioto took Darby, 33 to 19, with the Darby lassies turning the tables on the Commercial Pointers in a hard-fought 16-15 joust. Beers and Tracy, center for Scioto and forward for Darby, respectively, were high scorers with 15 and 13 each.

Jackson went into the victory column by taking Williamsport, 19-13. Jackson girls were victorious, too, in a 21-6 game.

The Muhlenberg-Monroe game was not reported by school officials. Pickaway and Sallers Creek played Thursday evening, the former winning.

Atlanta lost an independent game, 33-32, to the Ohio state school for the deaf, the contest being held in Columbus.

Games next week include Perry at Williamsport, Jackson at Walnut, Washington at New Holland, Ashville at Pickaway, Sallers Creek at Muhlenberg, Monroe at Scioto. Since these games will be played on other nights than Friday it is urged that coaches call in results the following morning before 9 o'clock.

RARE 7-LEAF CLOVER

LIMA, O.—(UP)—The seven-leaf clover, not the four-leaf variety, is the true rarity of that plant, according to Harold Bly, New Hampshire, O., farmer. Bly said he found 49 four-leaf and 20 five-leaf clovers on his farm in a single day, but that he had seen only one seven-leaf clover in his life.

Lou Nova's Star Moving High After Edging Farr

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(UP)—It's hail and farewell today—hail to the rising star of young Lou Nova who seems on his way to a shot at the world heavyweight championship, and farewell to tough Tommy Farr who deserves sometimes better than the obscurity into which he is going.

They fought it out last night inside the ropes at Madison Square garden, fought it out before 10,000 persons who sensed that this hour of blows and bloodshed was the turning point in the lives of two men, one going the high road and one the low road.

There was honor enough for both when they stood there, sweetly and tired, in the breathless moment before the decision was announced. But the decision went to Nova—justly so—and today his star blazes brightly. For Farr it probably meant the end of his career on the big time, with nothing ahead but tank town fights and a collage in Tonypandy, Wales.

Nova, who looks and fights like Gene Tunney, is headed for a match with Max Baer. Beyond Baer stands Joe Louis and the championship, and what they're saying today is that if anybody is going to take Louis, Nova is the man.

Experience Lacking

He had everything except experience last night. His short right needs to travel only a foot to explode like TNT. His left hand was in Farr's face almost everytime you looked at them. And, in the wild 14th round, Nova had Farr out on his feet and the crowd was yelling for the referee to stop the slaughter and save a brave man.

If this was Farr's farewell to the big time, then he left an unforgettable picture. His face was a mask of red and the blood rolled to his neck and forked into rivulets.

They patched him up between rounds and he hung on through the 15th, but there was no doubt that he had lost the fight.

Until the 14th round, it was anybody's fight. Farr, ducking his head behind his left shoulder, ploughed in and took two to land one. Even after the awful beating Farr took in the 14th, Referee Joseph called the bout a draw, but the two judges gave the decision to Nova.

NOT UNTIL Jan. 23 will we know whether the Michigan basketball team is a good one. That's midway through the Wolverines' Big Ten schedule, which makes or breaks any and all the Western conference teams.

Like its predecessor, the football squad, Michigan is playing under a new coach this season. Benny Oosterbaan. Yes, you've heard the name. Michigan's All-American star of a few years ago, Franklin Cappon is out.

Michigan should be a good team this year. And the Ann Arbor group is considered one of the powers of the Big Ten cage race, with Minnesota getting the nod as the apparent best team in the loop.

Rae Is Star

The Wolves are a veteran crew, headed by the Toledo, O., beanstalk, James Rae, who plays six feet four inches of center and generally leads the scoring parade.

Offensive threats with Rae are the forwards, Edmund Thomas, Ishpeming, Mich., who stands five feet ten and one-half inches, and another pee-wee, Dan Smick, from Hazel Park, who equals Rae's height in stocking feet. Smick is the all-around star who's good at most anything, and basketball in particular. The guards are Russ Dobson of Ann Arbor, who is two inches over six feet, and Leo Heebe of Dearborn, who tops six feet by an inch.

Fritz Crisler brought the Michigan colors through a fine grid season. Will Oosterbaan do the same for the hardwood hoopsters? Benny knows his basketball, so he has a good foundation.

Began With Win

He has a big team. The boys are fast and desirous of elevating the Michigan cage fortunes from the second division of last year.

The Wolves began the season in winning style, dumping a strong Michigan State team, 41 to 34, in a mild upset.

The Michigan schedule is not too tough. Non-conference opponents include Notre Dame, Rochester, Cornell, Butler and Toledo. The first conference game is with Illinois at Champaign, Jan. 7.

Unlike many of the other big college teams this season, Michigan makes only one barnstorming tour and that a short one. The team plays Rochester at Rochester, Dec. 17, and Cornell at White Plains, N. Y., on Thursday, Dec. 22.

PIRATES OBTAIN MUELLER; GIVE UP TODD, DICKSHOT

BOSTON, Dec. 17—(UP)—A baseball trade sent Catcher Ray Mueller of the Boston Bees to the Pittsburgh Pirates today in return for Catcher Al Todd, outfielder John Dickshot and an unannounced sum of cash.

Mueller is the 27 year old big league sophomore who divided catching duties with veteran Al Lober last season. In 83 games he batted .237.

Todd slipped from his consistent .300 average to .264 in 133 contests last season. Dickshot is 26 and appeared in only 29 games, mostly as a pinch-hitter.

RED, BLACK CAGERS HOLD CHILlicothe TO 17-10 EDGE IN ROUGH FRAY

SECOND PERIOD RELAPSE ENDS TIGER'S CHANCE

Numerous Uncalled Bodily Contact Fouls Impair C. H. S. Offensive

Lancaster Invades C. A. C. Court For Tuesday Battle

Outscored, outpushed and outcharged, Chillicothe high school Tigers went down to a valiant 17-10 defeat, Friday night at the hands of Chillicothe's Red Devils. The hundred or more Chillicothe fans who saw the game were not disappointed by the defeat, although many believed that Chillicothe could have won had the officials been closer in their check of bodily contact fouls.

Chillicothe beat the Tigers 30-11 last year.

The Tigers took a lead on the first tipoff when Paul Walters dropped a swisher through the net from about the foul zone. A fast going-away shot by Warren Baumgartner gave the Tigers four points and a lead of 4-3 at the end of the first period.

The second session saw the downfall of the Red and Black. The Tigers became excited for a few minutes just before the end of the half to permit the Chillicotheans to drop in three fast buckets and take a lead of 10-4 at the end of the session.

Last Half Hard Fought

The third and fourth periods were hard fought, neither team giving any quarter. The Red and Black came within one point of matching the Ross countians in the last sessions, time after time having the ball in the net only to have it fall the wrong direction. The Tigers had difficulty getting through the Chillicothe zone especially after the Red Devils gained a lead and refused to come out after the ball.

Dean Brooks, co-captain of the Chillicotheans starred for his club, getting seven points and playing a good floor game. Chillicothe's scoring was divided among Davis, Baumgartner and Walters.

The Tiger reserves made the Chillicotheans unhappy by piling up a 24-15 victory. Coach Roy Black used 15 boys against the home club, the Chillicothe mentor even suggesting in the final period that the game be cut short. Since it isn't often that Chillicothe has much fun at Chillicothe, Black refused saying that while his boys were enjoying themselves he didn't see any reason to stop their carrying on.

Lancaster Comes Tuesday

Lancaster high's varsity, defeated by a strong Bexley team Friday evening, invades Chillicothe Tuesday evening for one of the big games of the season. Coach Ray Coleman of Lancaster scouted the Tigers in the Amanda game, but learned nothing to carry back home since Amanda did about all the playing that day. Coleman, it will be remembered, refereed the football game here last Fall which saw the officials gain twice as much ground as either Chillicothe or Franklin.

There is a possibility that Chillicothe will book a home game during the holidays although nothing definite has been decided.

CZAR TO DIRECT BOXING ADVISED BY SPORTSMEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(UP)—Boxing could use a "strong man" to rule on a national basis with power similar to that of Judge Kenesaw M. Landis over baseball, the nation's sports editors said today.

And the man for the job, they added, is Gene Tunney, retired, undefeated heavyweight champion of the world.

Sixty-four of those voting in the annual United Press poll said "yes" in answer to this question: "Are you in favor of a national czar to control boxing?" Thirty-three percent said "no" and the remainder were non-committal.

If such a plan went into effect, all the editors agreed, the man who took the job would have to be a wise, tolerant, firm, honest and tireless worker.

"He would have to be a second Solomon," was the phrase voiced in many of the replies.

Tunney was mentioned most often as the man closest to all the requirements. Jack Dempsey's name appeared on several ballots.

Bermuda is 19.4 square miles in area.

JUG McSPADEN STILL IN LEAD FOR MIAMI GOLD

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 17—(UP)—Harold (Jug) McSpaden, pipe puffing pro from Winchester, Mass., had a chance to double his 1938 winnings as he began his third round today four strokes ahead of the field in the Miami Open Golf championship.

The 29 year old, sandy-haired easterner, never has been a big money winner, but this season has been one of his worst, grossing but $2,390 to date. His only victories were in the Massachusetts Open and New England P. G. A. Now he has an excellent opportunity to take the $2,500 top prize in this $10,000 event.

McSpaden, who fired a four under par 66 in the opening round, double-crossed the bookies who took him lightly, by shooting a 69 for a 135 total yesterday. He was the only player in the field of 200 who managed to put two sub-par rounds together, and the prize-makers who quoted him at 16-1 before play began, then dropped him to 12-1 after the first 18 holes, announced today "we've got all we want on him."

Jimmy Thomson, blond blaster from Shawnee-on-Deleware, Pa., another pre-tourney 18-1 shot, hammered the odds against himself down to 4-1 when he followed his opening 68 with a 71 yesterday to take undisputed possession of second place with 139.

Phrenology, the science of the mind, was once called "craniology" or "cranology."

ASHVILLE WINS EASY VICTORY OVER BULLDOGS

Broncs Remain On Top Loop; Washington Shows Power

Ashville's varsity cagers, on the way to their best year in Pickaway county athletics in a long while unless something unexpected happens, bumped New Holland's valiant Bulldogs Friday evening in a 44-15 game, the contest featuring play in the county loop. The Ashville boys comprise the only unbeaten team in the county.

The Pickaway Pirate threat will be faced next Tuesday evening on the Pickaway court in another test.

Ashville girls outlasted New Holland to win 9-7.

Washington showed a lot of power by turning back Walnut township 40-19 in a game played at Washington. When it is taken into consideration that Ashville was able to defeat Walnut by only six points, the stock of the Washington team soars. Leist, Wolf and DeLaVerne contributed 14, 10 and 10 points to the winner's column. Walnut girls led by Barr salvaged their contest, 22-14.

Scioto took Darby, 33 to 19, with the Darby lassies turning the tables on the Commercial Pointers in a hard-fought 18-15 joust. Beers and Tracy, center for Scioto and forward for Darby, respectively, were high scorers with 15 and 13 each.

Jackson went into the victory column by taking Williamsport, 19-13. Jackson girls were victorious, too, in a 21-6 game.

The Muhlenberg-Monroe game was not reported by school officials. Pickaway and Saltcreek played Thursday evening, the former winning.

Atlanta lost an independent game, 38-32, to the Ohio state school for the deaf, the contest being held in Columbus.

Games next week include Perry at Williamsport, Jackson at Walnut, Washington at New Holland, Ashville at Pickaway, Saltcreek at Muhlenberg, Monroe at Scioto. Since these games will be played on other nights than Friday it is urged that coaches call in results the following morning before 9 o'clock.

Lou Nova's Star Moving High After Edging Farr

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(UP)—It's hail and farewell today—hail to the rising star of young Lou Nova who seems on his way to a shot at the world heavyweight championship, and farewell to tough Tommy Farr who deserves sometimes better than the obscurity into which he is going.

They fought it out last night inside the ropes at Madison Square garden, fought it out before 10,000 persons who sensed that this hour of blows and bloodshed was the turning point in the lives of two men, one going the high road and one the low road.

There was honor enough for both when they stood there, sweaty and tired, in the breathless moment before the decision was announced. But the decision went to Nova—justly so—and today his star blazes brightly. For Farr it probably meant the end of his career on the big time, with nothing ahead but tank town fights and a cottage in Tonypandy, Wales.

Nova, who looks and fights like Gene Tunney, is headed for a match with Max Baer. Beyond Baer stands Joe Louis and the championship, and what they're saying today is that if anybody is going to take Louis, Nova is the man.

Experience Lacking

He had everything except experience last night. His short right needs to travel only a foot to explode like TNT. His left hand was in Farr's face almost everytime you looked at them. And, in the wild 14th round, Nova had Farr out on his feet and the crowd was yelling for the referee to stop the slaughter and save a brave man.

If this was Farr's farewell to the big time, then he left an unforgettable picture. His face was a mask of red and the blood rolled to his neck and forked into rivulets.

They patched him up between rounds and he hung on through the 15th, but there was no doubt that he had lost the fight.

Until the 14th round, it was anybody's fight. Farr, ducking his head behind his left shoulder, ploughed in and took two to land one. Even after the awful beating Farr took in the 14th, Referee Joseph called the bout a draw, but the two judges gave the decision to Nova.

Mueller is the 27 year old big league sophomore who divided catching duties with veteran Al Lopez last season. In 83 games he batted .237.

Todd slipped from his consistent .300 average to .264 in 133 contests last season. Dickshot is 26 and appeared in only 29 games, mostly as a pinch-hitter.

American star of a few years ago. Franklin Cappon is out.

Michigan should be a good team this year. And the Ann Arbor group is considered one of the powers of the Big Ten cage race, with Minnesota getting the nod as the apparent best team in the loop.

Rae Is Star

The Wolves are a veteran crew, headed by the Toledo, O., basketball star, James Rae, who plays six feet four inches of center and generally leads the scoring parade.

Offensive threats with Rae are the forwards, Edmund Thomas, Ishpeming, Mich., who stands five feet ten and one-half inches, and another pee-wee, Dan Smick, from Hazel Park, who equals Rae's height in stocking feet. Smick is the all-around star who's good at most anything, and basketball in particular.

The Wolves began the season in winning style, dumping a strong Michigan Stat team, 41 to 34, in a mild upset.

The Michigan schedule is not too tough. Non-conference opponents include Notre Dame, Rochester, Cornell, Butler and Toledo. The first conference game is with Illinois at Champaign, Jan. 7.

Unlike many of the other big college teams this season, Michigan makes only one barnstorming tour and that a short one. The team plays Rochester at Rochester, Dec. 17, and Cornell at White Plains, N. Y., on Thursday, Dec. 22.

The hundred or more Circleville fans who saw the game were not disappointed by the defeat, although many believed that Circleville could have won had the officials been closer in their check of bodily contact fouls.

Chillicothe beat the Tigers 36-11 last year. The Tigers took a lead on the first tipoff when Paul Walters dropped a swisher through the net from about the foul zone. A fast going-away shot by Warren Baumgartner gave the Tigers four points and a lead of 4-3 at the end of the first period.

The second session saw the downfall of the Red and Black. The Tigers became excited for a few minutes just before the end of the half to permit the Chillicotheans to drop in three fast buckets and take a lead of 10-4 at the end of the session.

Last Half Hard Fought

The third and fourth periods were hard fought, neither team giving any quarter. The Red and Black came within one point of matching the Ross countians in the last sessions, time after time having the ball in the net only to have it fall the wrong direction. The Tigers had difficulty getting through the Chillicothe zone especially after the Red Devils gained a lead and refused to come out after the ball.

Dean Brooks, co-captain of the Chillicotheans starred for his club, getting seven points and playing a good floor game. Circleville's scoring was divided among Davis, Baumgartner and Walters.

The Tiger reserves made the Chillicotheans unhappy by piling up a 24-15 victory. Coach Roy Black used 15 boys against the home club, the Chillicothe mentor even suggesting in the final period that the game be cut short. Since it isn't often that Circleville has much fun at Chillicothe, Black refused saying that while his boys were enjoying themselves he didn't see any reason to stop their carrying on.

Lancaster Comes Tuesday

Lancaster high's varsity, defeated by a strong Bexley team Friday evening, invades Circleville Tuesday evening for one of the big games of the season. Coach Ray Coleman of Lancaster scouted the Tigers in the Amanda game, but learned nothing to carry back home since Amanda did about all the playing that fray. Coleman, it will be remembered, refereed the football game here last Fall which saw the officials gain twice as much ground as either Circleville or Frankfort.

There is a possibility that Circleville will book a home game during the holidays although nothing definite has been decided.

CZAR TO DIRECT BOXING ADVISED BY SPORTSMEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(UP)—Boxing could use a "strong man" to rule on a national basis with power similar to that of Judge Kenesaw M. Landis over baseball, the nation's sports editors said today.

And the man for the job, they added, is Gene Tunney, retired undefeated heavyweight champion of the world.

Sixty-four of those voting in the annual United Press poll said "yes" in answer to this question: "Are you in favor of a national czar to control boxing?" Thirty-three percent said "no" and the remainder were non-committal.

If such a plan went into effect, all the editors agreed, the man who took the job would have to be a wise, tolerant, firm, honest and tireless worker.

"He would have to be a second Solomon," was the phrase voiced in many of the replies. Tunney was mentioned most often as the man closest to all the requirements. Jack Dempsey's name appeared on several ballots.

JUG McSPADEN STILL IN LEAD FOR MIAMI GOLD

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 17—(UP)—Harold (Jug) McSpaden, pipe puffing pro from Winchester, Mass., had a chance to double his 1938 winnings as he began his third round today four strokes ahead of the field in the Miami Open Golf championship.

The 29 year old, sandy-haired easterner, never has been a big money winner, but this season has been one of his worst, grossing but $2,390 to date. His only victories were in the Massachusetts Open and New England P. G. A. Now he has an excellent opportunity to take the $2,500 top prize in this $10,000 event.

McSpaden, who fired a four under par 66 in the opening round, double-crossed the bookies who took him lightly, by shooting a 69 for a 135 total yesterday. He was the only player in the field of 200 who managed to put two sub-par rounds together, and the prize-makers who quoted him at 16-1 before play began, then dropped him to 12-1 after the first 18 holes, announced today "we've got all we want on him."

Jimmy Thomson, blond blaster from Shawnee-on-Deleware, Pa., another pre-tourney 18-1 shot, hammered the odds against himself down to 4-1 when he followed his opening 68 with a 71 yesterday to take undisputed possession of second place with 139.

Phrenology, the science of the mind, was once called "cranioscopy" or "craniology."

ASHVILLE WINS EASY VICTORY OVER BULLDOGS

Broncs Remain On Top Loop; Washington Shows Power

Ashville's varsity cagers, on the way to their best year in Pickaway county athletics in a long while unless something unexpected happens, bumped New Holland's valiant Bulldogs Friday evening in a 44-15 game, the contest featuring play in the county loop. The Ashville boys comprise the only unbeaten team in the county.

The Pickaway Pirate threat will be faced next Tuesday evening on the Pickaway court in another test.

Ashville girls outlasted New Holland to win 9-7.

Washington showed a lot of power by turning back Walnut township 40-19 in a game played at Washington. When it is taken into consideration that Ashville was able to defeat Walnut by only six points, the stock of the Washington team soars. Leist, Wolf and DeLaVerne contributed 14, 10 and 10 points to the winner's column. Walnut girls led by Barr salvaged their contest, 22-14.

Scioto took Darby, 33 to 19, with the Darby lassies turning the tables on the Commercial Picketers in a hard-fought 18-15 joust. Beers and Tracy, center for Scioto and forward for Darby, respectively, were high scorers with 15 and 13 each.

Jackson went into the victory column by taking Williamsport, 19-13. Jackson girls were victorious, too, in a 21-6 game.

The Muhlenberg-Monroe game was not reported by school officials. Pickaway and Salt Creek played Thursday evening, the former winning.

Atlanta lost an independent game, 38-32, to the Ohio state school for the deaf, the contest being held in Columbus.

Games next week include Perry at Williamsport, Jackson at Walnut, Washington at New Holland, Ashville at Pickaway, Salt Creek at Muhlenberg, Monroe at Scioto. Since these games will be played on other nights than Friday it is urged that coaches call in results the following morning before 9 o'clock.

RARE 7-LEAF CLOVER

LIMA, O.—(UP)—The seven-leaf clover, not the four-leaf variety, is the true rarity of that plant, according to Harold Bly, New Hampshire, O. farmer. Bly said he found 46 four-leaf and 20 five-leaf clovers on his farm in a single day, but that he had seen only one seven-leaf clover in his life.

Lou Nova's Star Moving High After Edging Farr

NEW YORK, Dec. 17—(UP)—It's hail and farewell today—hail to the rising star of young Lou Nova who seems on his way to a shot at the world heavyweight championship, and farewell to tough Tommy Farr who deserves sometimes better than the obscurity into which he is going.

They fought it out last night inside the ropes at Madison Square garden, fought it out before 10,000 persons who sensed that this hour of blows and bloodshed was the turning point in the lives of two men, one going the high road and one the low road.

There was honor enough for both when they stood there, sweaty and tired, in the breathless moment before the decision was announced. But the decision went to Nova—justly so—and today his star blazes brightly. For Farr it probably meant the end of his career on the big time, with nothing ahead but tank town fights and a cottage in Tonypandy, Wales.

Nova, who looks and fights like Gene Tunney, is headed for a match with Max Baer. Beyond Baer stands Joe Louis and the championship, and what they're saying today is that if anybody is going to take Louis, Nova is the man.

Experience Lacking

He had everything except experience last night. His short right needs to travel only a foot to explode like TNT. His left hand was in Farr's face almost everytime you looked at them. And, in the wild 14th round, Nova had Farr out on his feet and the crowd was yelling for the referee to stop the slaughter and save a brave man.

If this was Farr's farewell to the big time, then he left an unforgettable picture. His face was a mask of red and the blood rolled to his neck and forked into rivulets.

They patched him up between rounds and he hung on through the 15th, but there was no doubt that he had lost the fight.

Until the 14th round, it was anybody's fight. Farr, ducking his head behind his left shoulder, ploughed in and took two to land one. Even after the awful beating Farr took in the 14th, Referee Joseph called the bout a draw, but the two judges gave the decision to Nova.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Busch

Scripture—Matthew 5:13-48; 22:34-40; Luke 10:25-37; John 13:34, 35; 15:12-14; Galatians 5:13, 14.

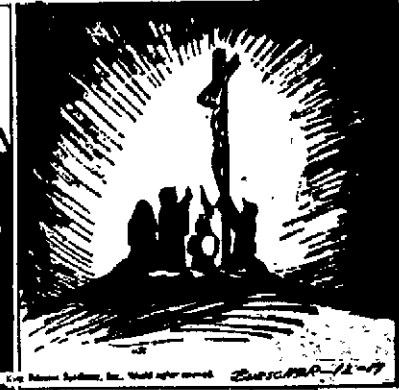

Real Christians do not hate even their enemies. They follow Jesus' command to "Love your enemies, do good to them that hate you."

Hearing what Jesus taught, a lawyer, who was a Pharisee, tried to trick Him by asking, "Which is the greater commandment?"

Jesus answered: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind."

And further, loving one another, "Great is love hath no man this, that he lay down his life for his friends." (GOLDEN TEXT—John 13:34.)

A new commandment give I unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another.—John 13:34.

WE HAVE been studying the ten commandments. Today we have what Jesus called a new commandment. It is so important that if we keep it we have also kept all the other ten commandments.

The "new" commandment is, "that ye love one another." Don't you see that you couldn't steal, kill, be unfaithful, or do any of the other things that are forbidden in the ten commandments Moses gave to the children of Israel, if you were just to love everyone?

Everyone should memorize Jesus' words when He said: "Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor and hate thine enemy." (This was the old Jewish law.) "But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them which despitefully use you, and persecute you:

"That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for He maketh His sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.

"For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? Do not even the publicans the same?"

"And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? Do not even the publicans so?"

"Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect."

"If we all lived up to that standard, even as far as we can, mouth, evangelists and singers, will be in charge of the meetings.

WE HAVE been studying the ten commandments. Today we have what Jesus called a new commandment. It is so important that if we keep it we have also kept all the other ten commandments. "But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them which despitefully use you, and persecute you:

wouldn't the problems of the world be solved? We probably couldn't be perfect, but that is the ideal toward which to strive. Those people we couldn't love, we could at least treat with kindness and try to understand the problems with which they are troubled and help when we could.

We could hold our anger when we are slighted or abused, knowing that nothing can really hurt us but our own wrong-doing.

Who is our neighbor? asked the rich young man of Jesus. And then He told the beautiful story of the man who fell among thieves and the Good Samaritan. Practically everyone knows this story, but it is like the fairy stories of our childhood, it can be told over and over.

"A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves, which stripped him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead."

A priest came that way, you remember, and, seeing the wounded man, passed by on the other side of the street. Then a Levite came by and he, too, saw and passed by. But a certain Samaritan came along and dressed the man's wounds. Setting him on his beast, the Samaritan took him to the nearest inn where he paid for his care. When he left he told the innkeeper that if he spent more money he would pay him when he came that way again.

"Which now, of these three, thinkest thou was neighbor unto Jesus asked. Of course the young man said the Samaritan was the most neighborly. Then said Jesus unto him, "Go thou and do likewise." That, then, is what is meant by being a Christian — not only believing, going to Sunday School and church, obeying the laws of the land and of good conduct, but being interested in all those with whom we come in contact, and in helping in every way we can. In the sad state of the world today, isn't that worth trying? Is there any better way to bring about "Peace on earth, goodwill to men"?

"That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for He maketh His sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust."

"For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? Do not even the publicans the same?"

"And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? Do not even the publicans so?"

"Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect."

Christ's New Commandment

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 5:43-48; 22:34-40; Luke 10:25-37; John 13:34, 35; 15:12-14; Galatians 5:13, 14.

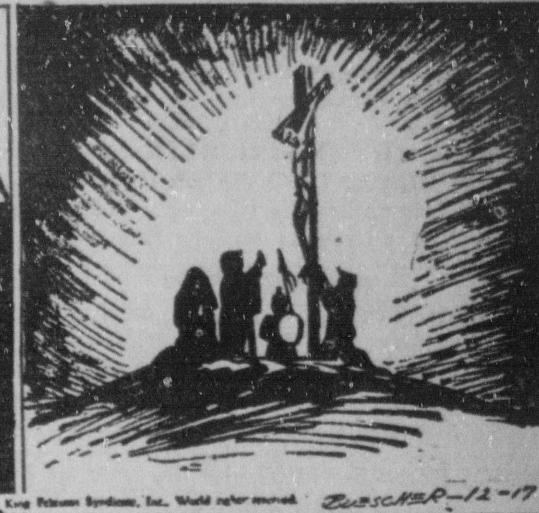

Real Christians do not hate even their enemies. They follow Jesus' command to "Love your enemies, do good to them that hate you."

Hearing what Jesus taught, a lawyer, who was a Pharisee, tried to trick Him by asking, "Which is the greater commandment?"

Jesus answered: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind."

And further, loving one another, "Great is love hath no man this, that he lay down his life for his friends." (GOLDEN TEXT—John 13:34.)

Christ's New Commandment

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 18 is Matthew 5: 43-48; 22: 34-40; Luke 10: 25-37; John 13: 34, 35; 15: 12-14; Galatians 5: 12, 14, the Golden Text being John 13:34, "A new commandment give I unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another.")

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WE HAVE been studying the ten commandments. Today we have what Jesus called a new commandment. It is so important that if we keep it we have also kept all the other ten commandments.

The "new" commandment is, "that ye love one another." Don't you see that you couldn't steal, kill, be unfaithful, or do any of the other things that are forbidden in the ten commandments Moses gave to the children of Israel, if you were just to love everyone?

Everyone should memorize Jesus' words when He said: "Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor and hate thine enemy." (This was the old Jewish law.) "But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them which despitefully use you, and persecute you:

"That ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for He maketh His sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust.

"For if ye love them which love you, what reward have ye? Do not even the publicans say?"

"And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? Do not even the publicans so?"

"Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect."

"If we all lived up to that standard, even as far as we can,

mouth, evangelists and singers, will be in charge of the meetings.

NEIGHBORLY LOANS

THERE is a good deal of talk, all at once, about lending money again to Latin-America. That investment field has been ignored for some years, because too much Yankee money sent South never came back.

Such caution meant sounder banking, but had a discouraging effect on trade. The Central and South American countries generally expect long credit on purchases and easy terms on loans, and tend to buy from countries that accommodate them. They mostly like our goods, but competition from other exporting countries is keen. It is something for a country like ours, bursting with producing and exporting power, to think about.

Accordingly our state and treasury departments are said to be "earnestly studying" the situation to see what can be done. The idea of fertilizing that Latin-America market with public loans from our government seems to be seriously considered. It might not only stimulate buying power there, but also stabilize their currency and public finance. We already have in existence an Export-Import Bank through which such activities might be carried on, with authority from Congress.

It may be well, though, to go a bit slow in that direction. We might get heavily involved, financially, governmentally and politically, so that our last fix would be worse than our first. It is better to come out after the fact, than to enter if such services, when desirable, can be performed by private lending agencies.

TWO KINDS OF WEALTH

"THE significant thing about Tibet," says a student of that strange land's learning and philosophy, "is its goal or end, because from top to bottom everybody looks forward to spiritual wealth instead of material wealth."

Such a goal would mean the end of western capitalism, probably, yet even capitalism could stand the development of keener interest in spiritual wealth. Certain critics of contemporary life in America attribute some of its troubles to the fact that people have lost such wealth—religion, philosophy, appreciation of the homely virtues of honesty and kindness, and so on.

Perhaps we may come eventually to a combination of the two ideals, with the sanitation and comfort of the one added to but one contaminating the spiritual wealth of the other.

We never expected to be afraid of rabbits, till this tularemia business developed. Now the bunnies have us on the run.

'ROUND THE FARM . . . Hour by Hour

By ALBERT RUFF

These cool mornings farmers are thinking of butchering or getting the buzz saw out of the shed and cutting wood.

We were in town Monday and overheard a girl say that the spirit of Christmas had not affected her much yet, but since she was in town and saw all the decorations and window displays of such fine gifts, I think she must have caught the spirit.

That open fire place in the First National Bank made a big hit with me. A trip through town in several of the stores certainly bolstered my Christmas spirit. I know a church man who says he thinks it is a sin to tell little children that there is a Santa Claus. He says that is teaching them to lie. Well, what do you think about it?

Harry Betz of East Ringgold is building a new bank barn on his farm in Washington township. He has a sawmill in his woods cutting out the frame work. Raymond Spangler of Walnut township has killed around 60 rabbits this Fall and his wife has canned 18 quarts for later use.

I was at the farm of John Grafts in Washington township. He has a fine herd of Guernsey cows. The foundation of his herd was a cow from Wisconsin about eight years ago. He sold a purebred bull last week to Stanley Click, of Circleville township. John would rather talk about the white face heifers he had last Summer. About the first of May he bought 12 from Harry Briggs at the Farm Bureau and they weighed about 450 pounds each. John turned them in pasture with running water and plenty salt. That is all he fed them until October first, when he began feeding a little chopped ear corn, not more than 150 bushels all together. When he sold them three weeks ago they weighed 780 pounds each and topped the Circleville market.

Some farmers are saying that hybrid corn will not feed as well as our own native corn. My pigs eat it.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

SMITH'S REAPPOINTMENT HIT

WASHINGTON—Some of the Democratic master minds on Capitol Hill are counseling the President to withdraw his reappointment of Labor Board member Donald W. Smith and name someone else.

Roosevelt gave Smith a new six-year term last summer over the violent opposition of the A. F. of L., which announced that it would fight his confirmation. The Federation is thumbs down on Smith, alleging that he is pro-C. I. O. However, his voting record in the NLRB is identical with that of Chairman J. Warren Madden, against whom AFL mongrels have made no complaint.

Real reason for their hostility is the fact that Smith is a protégé of Senator Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania, who is closely allied with John L. Lewis.

Senate leaders told Roosevelt they have made a secret count of noses and are doubtful whether Smith's re-appointment can be approved. In any event a knock-down-and-drag-out battle is certain, and the boys don't relish being placed in the position of fighting the A. F. of L. So they propose this trouble-dodging deal.

Withdraw Smith's name and give him another job, on the Coal Commission or some other agency where the A. F. of L. would not object to him. Then fill the NLRB vacancy with Representative David Lewis, who waged the unsuccessful purge campaign against Senator Millard Tydings in Maryland.

The leaders point out that neither the A. F. of L. nor the C. I. O. could oppose Lewis, a lifelong laborite; that in fact both endorsed him for Senator.

Inner circle advisers are very cold to this scheme. They tell the President he can't back down, that it would be better to be defeated than submit meekly to an AFL threat. They also intimate broadly that the congressional leaders are more concerned about their own hides than about defending Smith, and that there will be plenty of time to appoint Lewis if Smith's confirmation is rejected.

NOTE—Senator Ed Burke, who told friends after a visit to England last fall that he would not take the expected initiative in seeking amendments to the Wagner Act or oppose Smith, has again changed his mind. The Nebraskan has reverted to form and is once more lustily clamoring for the Labor Board axe.

JITTERY ACTORS

Attorney General Homer Cummings and James V. Bennett, Director of the Bureau of Prisons, were nearly scared out of their wits during the making of a news-reel at the Department of Justice.

After the movie director had coached Cummings and Bennett in their parts and was ready for the camera, he shouted:

"Okay, Dillinger—shoot 'em!"

The two officials jumped and completely forgot their lines as the cameraman, a namesake of the daring criminal who terrorized the nation a few years ago, began grinding.

The scene had to be retaken, but not before Cummings cautioned the director: "If you don't mind, please don't say that any more. It makes it difficult for us to concentrate on what we're doing."

Everything grows statistical nowadays, and rich and poor people have become just higher and lower "income groups."

If the Nazis are to get along with the British, they'll have to mend their manners.

Arthritis, the Great American Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE CURSE of the locomotor system of the body is the joints. Barring accidents and a few rare diseases, most of us get through life without ever hearing from our bones, muscles or tendons. But arthritis, the inflammation of the joints, is likely to hit all of us at some time or other if we live long enough.

It has been estimated that two per cent of the population is sick all the time. It is not always the same people, of course. John Jones has pneumonia and is part of the two per cent for a while. Then he gets well and resigns his place to Henry Smith. This fluctuating personnel in the acute diseases, however, surmounts a basis of chronic ailments.—People who remain in the two per cent column year after year.

Largest Number

And of these chronic patients, it is estimated that those with arthritis constitute the largest number.

The symptoms of arthritis are pain, swelling, stiffness and disability of one or more joints. There are many forms of arthritis, including acute arthritis, which we understand far better than we do the chronic kind. Acute arthritis is always an infection, and usually terminates favorably.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Many doctors think that all chronic arthritis is infectious, also. Others think that some cases are nutritional in origin. Two main forms of arthritis occur. One occurs mostly in young adults, affects many joints and is extremely crippling.

I wondered what Emma and her baby had to do with me.

CHAPTER ONE

I WAS GIVING one of our local belles a shampoo and a finger wave, and had just tied the net beneath her chin and tucked her under the drier when Polly, who is the "Madame Moira" of "Madame Moira's Beauty Shoppe", signaled from the desk that some one wanted to speak with me on the telephone.

I remember feeling excited and sort of wobbly at the knees, because the night before, at the annual beauticians' ball I had met my "dream man" in Phil Benson, a reporter on the Lawville Times, and he had promised to ring me soon. But the voice that came over the wire was a woman's—Kitty Wilson's—my girl friend. I swallowed my disappointment, and told myself not to be a chump. Maybe, after all, Phil had been handing me a line!

"Hello, Bessie!" Kitty said. "I want to ask a favor—"

"Sure," I said, "anything at all."

And I am still ashamed at the casual way I let myself in for a most terrifying and exciting experience. Of course I never thought Kitty was going to ask for more than the loan of my new gold evening slippers, or my bunny jacket at the most, and even when she finally told me what she wanted I was only mildly surprised.

"Emma's having another baby," Kitty went on—Emma is her married sister in Columbus—and I have to go right over there and stay for awhile."

"Well?" I said, wondering what Emma and her baby had to do with me.

"I want you to come out to the Manor and take my place for a week."

"The Manor?" I repeated, though I had heard well enough what she had said. "But I have a job—"

"I know," she interrupted impatiently. "I talked to Polly and she's willing to let you off for a week. I'll pay you double salary and you'll get your room and board besides. Will you come?"

"Well—" I hesitated, but a week at the Manor did sound alluring, I had always wanted to see inside Lawville's showplace. "Well, yes!" thought Kitty, sounding relieved. "Tim, the chauffeur, will call for you. You won't need to bring a thing but your aprons. Everything else is here."

"All right," I made up my mind to go. "You can send Tim to my place at six."

"He'll be there," she promised. "Do your best, and I'll be back as soon as I can. Mrs. Greely, the housekeeper, will show you the ropes."

"O. K., Kitty. I'll do my darnedest."

"So you're going to break into society," kidded Polly. "Be careful, my girl, that it doesn't go to your head!"

"I will."

The Manor is the name of a huge, wooded estate some three miles from the edge of this town, which is a few miles outside of Columbus, Ohio. It was the family home of the financially and socially prominent Witherspoons, whose fortunes during the lifetime of Horace T. Witherspoon, Sr., father to the then present family, leaped from comfortable thousands to unbelievable millions. This seeming wizardry on the part of the elder Horace was nothing more magical than what is now known (although at the time it had been called "doing one's bit") as war profiteering. He had sold rope and leather goods to the United States government at enormous profit.

The Witherspoons were, naturally enough, the leaders of Lawville society. Scarcely a week passed that they did not entertain guests from New York and other points east. They were always having

THERE is a good deal of talk, all at once, about lending money again to Latin-America. That investment field has been ignored for some years, because too much Yankee money sent South never came back.

Such caution meant sounder banking, but had a discouraging effect on trade. The Central and South American countries generally expect long credit on purchases and easy terms on loans, and tend to buy from countries that accommodate them. They mostly like our goods, but competition from other exporting countries is keen. It is something for a country like ours, bursting with producing and exporting power, to think about.

Accordingly our state and treasury departments are said to be "earnestly studying" the situation to see what can be done. The idea of fertilizing that Latin-America market with public loans from our government seems to be seriously considered. It might not only stimulate buying power there, but also stabilize their currency and public finance. We already have in existence an Export-Import Bank through which such activities might be carried on, with authority from Congress.

It may be well, though, to go a bit slow in that direction. We might get heavily involved, financially, governmentally and politically, so that our last fix would be worse than our first. It is better to come out after the fact, as Asheville, after if such services, when desirable, can be performed by private lending agencies.

TWO KINDS OF WEALTH

"THE significant thing about Tibet," says a student of that strange land's learning and philosophy, "is its goal or end, because from top to bottom everybody looks forward to spiritual wealth instead of material wealth."

Such a goal would mean the end of western capitalism, probably, yet even capitalism could stand the development of keener interest in spiritual wealth. Certain critics of contemporary life in America attribute some of its troubles to the fact that people have lost such wealth—religion, philosophy, appreciation of the homely virtues of honesty and kindness, and so on.

Perhaps we may come eventually to a combination of the two ideals, with the sanitation and comfort of the one added to but one contaminating the spiritual wealth of the other.

We never expected to be afraid of rabbits, till this tularemia business developed. Now the bunnies have us on the run.

'ROUND THE FARM . . . Hour by Hour

By ALBERT RIFE

These cool mornings farmers are thinking of butchering or getting the buzz saw out of the shed and cutting wood.

We were in town Monday and overheard a girl say that the spirit of Christmas had not affected her much yet, but since she was in town and saw all the decorations and window displays of such fine gifts, I think she must have caught the spirit.

That open fire place in the First National Bank made a big hit with me. A trip through town in several of the stores certainly bolstered my Christmas spirit. I know a church man who says he thinks it is a sin to tell little children that there is a Santa Claus. He says that is teaching them to lie. Well, what do you think about it?

Harry Betz of East Ringgold is building a new bank barn on his farm in Washington township. He has a sawmill in his woods cutting out the frame work. Raymond Spangler of Walnut township has killed around 60 rabbits this fall and his wife has canned 18 quarts for later use.

I was at the farm of John Grafts in Washington township. He has a fine herd of Guernsey cows. The foundation of his herd was a cow from Wisconsin about eight years ago. He sold a pure-bred bull last week to Stanley Glick, of Circleville township. John would rather talk about the white face heifers he had last Summer. About the first of May he bought 12 from Harry Briggs at the Farm Bureau and they weighed about 450 pounds each. John turned them in pasture with running water and plenty salt. That is all he fed them until October first, when he began feeding a little chopped ear corn, not more than 150 bushels all together. When he sold them three weeks ago they weighed 780 pounds each and topped the Circleville market.

Some farmers are saying that hybrid corn will not feed as well as our own native corn. My pigs eat it.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

SMITH'S REAPPOINTMENT HIT

WASHINGTON—Some of the Democratic master minds on Capitol Hill are counseling the President to withdraw his reappointment of Labor Board member Donald W. Smith and name someone else.

Roosevelt gave Smith a new six-year term last summer over the violent opposition of the A. F. of L., which announced that it would fight his confirmation. The Federation is thumbs down on Smith, alleging that he is pro-C. I. O. However, his voting record in the NLRB is identical with that of Chairman J. Warren Madden, against whom AFL mongrels have made no complaint.

Real reason for their hostility is the fact that Smith is a protege of Senator Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania, who is closely allied with John L. Lewis.

Senate leaders told Roosevelt they have made a secret count of noses and are doubtful whether Smith's re-appointment can be approved. In any event a knock-down-and-drag-out battle is certain, and the boys don't relish being placed in the position of fighting the A. F. of L. So they propose this trouble-dodging deal.

Withdraw Smith's name and give him another job, on the Coal Commission or some other agency where the A. F. of L. would not object to him. Then fill the NLRB vacancy with Representative David Lewis, who waged the unsuccessful purge campaign against Senator Millard Tydings in Maryland.

The leaders point out that neither the A. F. of L. nor the C. I. O. could oppose Lewis, a lifelong laborite; that in fact both endorsed him for Senator.

Inner circle advisers are very cold to this scheme. They tell the President he can't back down, that it would be better to be defeated than submit meekly to an AFL threat. They also intimate broadly that the congressional leaders are more concerned about their own hides than about defending Smith, and that there will be plenty of time to appoint Lewis if Smith's confirmation is rejected.

NOTE—Senator Ed Burke, who told friends after a visit to England last fall that he would not take the expected initiative in seeking amendments to the Wagner Act or oppose Smith, has again changed his mind. The Nebraskan has reverted to form and is once more lustily clamoring for the Labor Board axe.

JITTERY ACTORS

Attorney General Homer Cummings and James V. Bennett, Director of the Bureau of Prisons, were nearly scared out of their wits during the making of a news-reel at the Department of Justice.

After the movie director had coached Cummings and Bennett in their parts and was ready for the camera, he shouted:

"Okay, Dillinger—shoot 'em!"

The two officials jumped and completely forgot their lines as the cameraman, a namesake of the daring criminal who terrorized the nation a few years ago, began grinding.

The scene had to be retaken, but not before Cummings cautioned the director: "If you don't mind, please don't say that any more. It makes it difficult for us to concentrate on what we're doing."

Everything grows statistical nowadays, and rich and poor people have become just higher and lower "income groups."

If the Nazis are to get along with the British, they'll have to mend their manners.

The Manor is the name of a huge, wooded estate some three miles from the edge of this town, which is a few miles outside of Columbus, Ohio. It was the family home of the Witherspoons, whose fortunes during the lifetime of Horace T. Witherspoon, Sr., father to the then present family, leaped from comfortable thousands to uncomfortable and unbelievable millions. This seeming wizardry on the part of the elder Horace was nothing more magical than what is now known (although at the time it had been called "doing one's bit") as war profiteering. ing important personages—actors, athletes, aviators and other celebrities—stopping off at the Manor to plant a tree in the arboretum they had somewhere on the place.

They did not mingle much with the townspeople, being too, too exclusive, except when there was a charity ball to be opened or a civic drive to be inaugurated. Then Horace, Jr., would droll up in his tails and top hat and come forth to do the honors for dear old Lawnville.

Once I had shaken his cold and clammy hand at one of these affairs and had looked into his pale, disinterested eyes that were like those of a man long dead yet living. A shrunken, insignificant little man he was, with a weak, womanish mouth and a receding chin. Occasionally I had seen Daphne Witherspoon, the little man's daughter, driving like mad through the streets in her long, low roadster, her bright hair flying in the wind, her lips parted in reckless, rippling laughter. Sometimes she would stop in at the corner drug store when I ate my lunch and perch upon the high stool at the counter and joke with Pete, the soda jerk, as she sipped at a Coca-Cola. The town called Daphne wild, but it really did not know. She did not hang around Lawnville much, for she spent most of her time abroad or in the east.

The rest of the family were strangers to me, though I knew along with the rest of the town that Horace, Jr., was merely the figurehead. The real chief was old Mrs. Witherspoon. Horace, Sr.'s widow, a semi-invalid, who never stirred from the house.

And Mrs. Witherspoon was the reason for Kitty's job and the reason for my own invitation to the Manor. Mrs. W., as Kitty always called her, was an extraordinarily vain old lady of seventy-five. She had a mania for permanent waves and henna packs and mud facials and crimson fingernails! Being rich, she was, of course, able to gratify her passion; and to this end she had built and completely equipped a regulation and up-to-the-minute beauty salon on the second floor of the Manor.

Naturally, I had never been inside this private parlor, but Kitty, who was its sole operator, had described it to me often enough. And did it sound like an operator's paradise! Mrs. Witherspoon had sent to New York and had imported the very latest and most expensive permanent waving machine and all that goes with them. She had installed a steam bath and a reducing cabinet and a mechanical horse and Heaven knows what else. And all were maintained for the enjoyment and convenience of herself, her guests and members of the household. More than once I had envied Kitty her job and wished myself in her shoes.

A year ago, Kitty, like myself, was one of the girls at "Madame Moira's". At that time Mrs. Witherspoon had not built her salon, and twice a week regularly she would call in and have Polly send out an operator to give her treatment.

This had been going on for months, with Macie, our head operator, doing the honors for "Madame Moira's" and coming back to the shop and making our mouths water with tales of the perfectly gorgeous food she had been served for lunch. Artichokes and pate de foie gras and other such trifles that up to then had been mere names on a menu to the lot of us.

Well, Macie, as girls will foolishly do, married her bus-driving boy friend and retired to the suburbs to mess about with boiled beef and cabbage; and Polly, scarcely knowing which way to turn, packed Kitty off to the Manor the next time the old lady's car came through.

To make it short, Kitty made a hit and it was not long until she was spending half her days at the Manor fixing up the old girl and the rest of the family. I never did know just when or how Mrs. Witherspoon got the bright idea to install her own equipment and to hire Kitty for her private and personal attendant; but get it she did, and within six months the idea was a fact. Kitty moved bag and baggage to the Manor.

Looking back, I sometimes wonder why Kitty let me in for what she did without some sort of warning. But maybe that was because she had been there so long she did not notice the queer undercurrents and the tight, oppressed atmosphere, like a storm before it breaks, that formed the background of life at the Manor. But there—I'm getting ahead of my story.

THERE is a good deal of talk, all at once, about lending money again to Latin-America. That investment field has been ignored for some years, because too much Yankee money sent South never came back.

Such caution meant sounder banking, but had a discouraging effect on trade. The Central and South American countries generally expect long credit on purchases and easy terms on loans, and tend to buy from countries that accommodate them. They mostly like our goods, but competition from other exporting countries is keen. It is something for a country like ours, bursting with producing and exporting power, to think about.

Accordingly our state and treasury departments are said to be "earnestly studying" the situation to see what can be done. The idea of fertilizing that Latin-America market with public loans from our government seems to be seriously considered. It might not only stimulate buying power there, but also stabilize their currency and public finance. We already have in existence an Export-Import Bank through which such activities might be carried on, with authority from Congress.

It may be well, though, to go a bit slow in that direction. We might get heavily involved, financially, governmentally and politically, so that our last fix would be worse than our first. It is better to come out after the fact, as in Ashville, than if such services, when desirable, can be performed by private lending agencies.

TWO KINDS OF WEALTH

"THE significant thing about Tibet," says a student of that strange land's learning and philosophy, "is its goal or end, because from top to bottom everybody looks forward to spiritual wealth instead of material wealth."

Such a goal would mean the end of western capitalism, probably, yet even capitalism could stand the development of keener interest in spiritual wealth. Certain critics of contemporary life in America attribute some of its troubles to the fact that people have lost such wealth—religion, philosophy, appreciation of the homely virtues of honesty and kindness, and so on.

Perhaps we may come eventually to a combination of the two ideals, with the sanitation and comfort of the one added to but one contaminating the spiritual wealth of the other.

We never expected to be afraid of rabbits, till this tularemia business developed. Now the bunnies have us on the run.

'ROUND THE FARM . . . Hour by Hour

By ALBERT RIFE

These cool mornings farmers are thinking of butchering or getting the buzz saw out of the shed and cutting wood.

We were in town Monday and overheard a girl say that the spirit of Christmas had not affected her much yet, but since she was in town and saw all the decorations and window displays of such fine gifts, I think she must have caught the spirit.

That open five place in the First National Bank made a big hit with me. A trip through town in several of the stores certainly bolstered my Christmas spirit. I know a church man who says he thinks it is a sin to tell little children that there is a Santa Claus. He says that is teaching them to lie. Well, what do you think about it?

Harry Betz of East Ringgold is building a new bank barn on his farm in Washington township. He has a sawmill in his woods cutting out the frame work. Raymond Spangler of Walnut township has killed around 60 rabbits this Fall and his wife has canned 18 quarts for later use.

I was at the farm of John Graffis in Washington township. He has a fine herd of Guernsey cows. The foundation of his herd was a cow from Wisconsin about eight years ago. He sold a pure-bred bull last week to Stanley Glick, of Circleville township. John would rather talk about the white face heifers he had last Summer. About the first of May he bought 12 from Harry Briggs at the Farm Bureau and they weighed about 450 pounds each. John turned them in pasture with running water and plenty salt. That is all he fed them until October first, when he began feeding a little chopped ear corn, not more than 150 bushels all together. When he sold them three weeks ago they weighed 750 pounds each and topped the Circleville market.

Some farmers are saying that hybrid corn will not feed as well as our own native corn. My pigs eat it.

SMITH'S REAPPOINTMENT HIT

WASHINGTON—Some of the Democratic master minds on Capitol Hill are counseling the President to withdraw his reappointment of Labor Board member Donald W. Smith and name someone else.

Roosevelt gave Smith a new six-year term last summer over the violent opposition of the A. F. of L., which announced that it would fight his confirmation. The Federation is thumbs down on Smith, alleging that he is pro-C. I. O. However, his voting record in the NLRB is identical with that of Chairman J. Warren Madden, against whom AFL mongers have made no complaint.

Real reason for their hostility is the fact that Smith is a protégé of Senator Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania, who is closely allied with John L. Lewis.

Senate leaders told Roosevelt they have made a secret count of noses and are doubtful whether Smith's re-appointment can be approved. In any event a knock-down-and-drag-out battle is certain, and the boys don't relish being placed in the position of fighting the A. F. of L. So they propose this trouble-dodging deal.

Withdraw Smith's name and give him another job, on the Coal Commission or some other agency where the A. F. of L. would not object to him. Then fill the NLRB vacancy with Representative David Lewis, who waged the unsuccessful purge campaign against Senator Millard Tydings in Maryland.

The leaders point out that neither the A. F. of L. nor the C. I. O. could oppose Lewis, a lifelong laborite; that in fact both endorsed him for Senator.

Inner circle advisers are very cold to this scheme. They tell the President he can't back down, that it would be better to be defeated than submit meekly to an AFL threat. They also intimate broadly that the congressional leaders are more concerned about their own hides than about defending Smith, and that there will be plenty of time to appoint Lewis if Smith's confirmation is rejected.

NOTE—Senator Ed Burke, who told friends after a visit to England last Fall that he would not take the expected initiative in seeking amendments to the Wagner Act or oppose Smith, has again changed his mind. The Nebraskan has reverted to form and is once more lustily clamoring for the Labor Board axe.

JITTERY ACTORS

Attorney General Homer Cummings and James V. Bennett, Director of the Bureau of Prisons, were nearly scared out of their wits during the making of a news-reel at the Department of Justice.

After the movie director had coached Cummings and Bennett in their parts and was ready for the camera, he shouted: "Okay, Dillinger—shoot 'em!"

The two officials jumped and completely forgot their lines as the cameraman, a namesake of the daring criminal who terrorized the nation a few years ago, began grinding.

The scene had to be retaken, but not before Cummings cautioned the director: "If you don't mind, please don't say that any more. It makes it difficult for us to concentrate on what we're doing."

Everything grows statistical nowadays, and rich and poor people have become just higher and lower "income groups."

Arthritis, the Great American Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE CURSE of the locomotor system of the body is the joints. Barring accidents and a few rare diseases, most of us get through life without ever hearing from our bones, muscles or tendons. But arthritis, the inflammation of the joints, is likely to hit all of us at some time or other if we live long enough.

It has been estimated that two per cent of the population is sick all the time. It is not always the same people, of course. John Jones has pneumonia and is part of the two per cent for a while. Then he gets well and resigns his place to Henry Smith. This fluctuating personnel in the acute diseases, however, surmounts a basis of chronic ailments—people who remain in the two per cent column year after year.

Largest Number

And of these chronic patients, it is estimated that those with arthritis constitute the largest number.

The symptoms of arthritis are pain, swelling, stiffness and disability of one or more joints. There are many forms of arthritis, including acute arthritis, which we understand far better than we do the chronic kind. Acute arthritis is always an infection, and usually terminates favorably.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Many doctors think that all chronic arthritis is infectious, also. Others think that some cases are nutritional in origin. Two main forms of arthritis occur. One occurs mostly in young adults, affects many joints and is extremely crippling.

WHAT IS A GOOD HAND

ANSWERING THAT question correctly depends upon the circumstances. Many a holding which would be worthless as a dummy is valuable if its owner is declarer at its longest suit. A partner with a fair amount of high card strength and a moderate fit for the trumps can turn mere long suits of small cards into very valuable assets.

One diamond was North's opening bid on this deal and East overcalled with 1-No Trump. South passed and West bid 2-Spades. North rebid his diamonds at the three level and East bid 3-Spades. South and West passed and North bid 4-Diamonds.

When East failed to put in another bid, South was in a quandary. He feared the consequences of the 4-Diamond bid because his hand provided no entries for his partner. However, with a vulnerable partner bidding and rebidding with no encouragement, South decided to gamble on 4-Hearts, figuring the damage could be, no worse than at 4-Diamonds.

West led the spade Q which East won with the A. He returned the club K to the A. Declarer led the diamond K and tossed a club when East failed to cover. This was followed with the Q. East held off again and another club was discarded. When the J was covered, South ruffed and led to the Heart A. He then gave up a heart and a club.

CHAPTER ONE

I WAS GIVING one of our local belles a shampoo and a finger wave, and had just tied the net beneath her chin and tucked her under the drier when Polly, who is the "Madame Moira" of "Madame Moira's Beauty Shoppe," signaled from the desk that some one wanted to speak with me on the telephone.

I remember feeling excited and sort of wobbly at the knees, because the night before, at the annual beauticians' ball I had met my "dream man" in Phil Benson, a reporter on the Lawville Times, and he had promised to ring me soon. But the voice that came over the wire was a woman's—Kitty Wilson's—my girl friend. I swallowed my disappointment, and told myself not to be a chump. Maybe, after all, Phil had been handing me a line!

"Hello, Elsie!" Kitty said. "I want to ask a favor—"

"Sure," I said, "anything at all." And I am still amused at the casual way I let myself in for a most terrifying and exciting experience. Of course I never thought Kitty was going to ask for more than the loan of my new gold evening slippers, or my bunny jacket at the most, and even when she finally told me what she wanted I was only mildly surprised.

"Emma's having another baby," Kitty went on—Emma is her married sister in Columbus—"and I have to go right over there and stay for awhile."

"Well?" I said, wondering what Emma and her baby had to do with me.

"I want you to come out to the Manor and take my place for a week."

"The Manor?" I repeated, though I had heard well enough what she had said. "But I have a job—"

"I know," she interrupted impatiently. "I talked to Polly and she's willing to let you off for a week. I'll pay you double salary and you'll get your room and board besides. Will you come?"

"Well—" I hesitated, but a week at the Manor did sound alluring. I had always wanted to see inside Lawville's showplace. "Well, yes!"

"Good!" Kitty sounded relieved. "Tim, the chauffeur, will call for you. You won't need to bring a thing but your aprons. Everything else is here."

"All right," I made up my mind to go. "You can send Tim to my place at six."

"He'll be there," she promised. "Do your best, and I'll be back as soon as I can. Mrs. Greely, the housekeeper, will show you the ropes."

"O. K., Kitty. I'll do my darnedest."

"So you're going to break into society," kidded Polly. "Be careful, my girl, that it doesn't go to your head!"

"I will."

The Manor is the name of a huge, wooded estate some three miles from the edge of this town, which is a few miles outside of Columbus, Ohio. It was the family home of the financially and socially prominent Witherspoons, whose fortunes during the lifetime of Horace T. Witherspoon, Sr., father to the then present family, leaped from comfortable thousands to uncomfortable and unbelievable millions. This seeming wizardry on the part of the elder Horace was nothing more magical than what is now known (although at the time it had been called "doing one's bit") as war profiteering. He had sold rope and leather goods to the United States government at enormous profit.

The Witherspoons were, naturally enough, the leaders of Lawville society. Scarcely a week passed that they did not entertain guests from New York and other points east. They were always having important personages—actors, athletes, aviators and other celebrities—stopping off at the Manor to plant a tree in the arboretum they had somewhere on the place.

They did not mingle much with the townspeople, being too, too exclusive, except when there was a charity ball to be opened or a civic drive to be inaugurated. Then Horace, Jr., would droll up in his tails and top hat and come forth to do the honors for dear old Lawville.

Once I had shaken his cold and clammy hand at one of these affairs and had looked into his pale, disinterested eyes that were like those of a man long dead yet living. A shrunken, insignificant little man he was, with a weak, womanish mouth and a receding chin.

Occasionally I had seen Daphne Witherspoon, the little man's daughter, driving like mad through the streets in her long, low roadster, her bright hair flying in the wind, her lips parted in reckless, rippling laughter. Sometimes she would stop in at the corner drug store when I ate my lunch and perch upon the high stool at the counter and joke with Pete, the soda jerk, as she sipped at a Coca-Cola. The town called Daphne wild, but it really did not know. She did not hang around Lawville much, for she spent most of her time abroad or in the east.

The rest of the family were strangers to me, though I knew along with the rest of the town that Horace, Jr., was merely the figurehead. The real chief was old Mrs. Witherspoon. Horace, Sr.'s widow, a semi-invalid, who never stirred from the house.

And Mrs. Witherspoon was the reason for Kitty's job and the reason for my own invitation to the Manor. Mrs. W., as Kitty always called her, was an extraordinarily vain old lady of seventy-five. She had a mania for permanent waves and henna packs and mud facials and crimson fingernails! Being rich, she was, of course, able to gratify her passion; and to this end she had built and completely equipped a regulation and up-to-the-minute beauty salon on the second floor of the Manor.

Naturally, I had never been inside this private parlor, but Kitty, who was its sole operator, had described it to me often enough. And it did sound like an operator's paradise! Mrs. Witherspoon had sent to New York and had imported the very latest and most expensive permanent waving machine and all that goes with them. She had installed a steam bath and a reducing cabinet and a mechanical horse and Heaven knows what else. And

Yule Program Offered At Social Club Session

Carols, Piano and Readings Fill Evening

A delightful program of music interspersed with readings was presented at the December meeting of the Women's Social club of the Presbyterian church Friday, the social room. Mrs. James Moffitt and Mrs. Melvin Yates sang traditional carols, with Miss Mills Clarke at the piano. Mrs. Theodore Huston played selections of unusual modern piano and Mrs. W. W. Robinson read Christmas poems selected by S. E. O. Crites for the entertainment of approximately 50 guests.

Mrs. Hulse Hays, president, opened the meeting, Mrs. Charles Eschbach leading the group in song. Mrs. Leland Pontius, secretary, read the minutes of the meeting and routine business was disposed of. It was decided to send a Christmas card to Mrs. Stanley Lewis, a club member who is spending the winter with her mother at Guthrie, Ohio. A large quantity of food was received at session and was turned over to the Benevolent association for Christmas baskets for the needy.

Mrs. Robinson presented Mrs. Moffitt and Mrs. Yates who presented the program with duet arrangements of "Away in a Manger," the traditional air, and "The Little Noel," arranged by John Eschbach, with Miss Clarke at the piano. Mrs. Robinson read two poems preceding the piano solos. Mrs. Huston, for her first solo, played "The Little Noel," Debussy, a quiet exposition of modern music. "To the Sea," McDowell, second number, was a more vocal example of this same type music.

Mrs. Yates sang "I Wonder as I Wander," a traditional air, arranged by John Eschbach, with Miss Clarke at the piano and voice by John Eschbach. It was a splendid example of real American Folk music. Another group of duets by Mrs. Moffitt and Mrs. Yates included "What Child is This," traditional, and the ever-pleasing "Silent Night."

Refreshments were served at the close of group singing of carols. Mrs. John Bennett and Mrs. Hays assisted at the attractive table. Mrs. H. G. Stevenson was chairman of the hospitality committee. Miss Bertha Bowers is chairman of the program committee for the January session. Other members present were Mrs. Robert Kelsey, Mrs. John Yates, and Miss Eleanor Eschbach.

The hospitality committee includes Mrs. George D. McDowell, chairman, Mrs. Walker Bockart, Mrs. Mary Crites, Mrs. Maxine

STARS SAY—

For Saturday, December 17

THERE ARE indications of a particularly lively and perhaps strenuous day, according to the lunar as well as mutual aspects. Nevertheless, there may be much high pressure activity that is not of a particularly harmonious nature. A tendency to rash, impetuous and irritating conduct may incite enmity, jealousy and opposition. Speculation and new matters may prove gainful if managed with proper restraint.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of much activity and enterprise, with much to be gained in speculation, new projects and major interests if they are not put in jeopardy by rash, impetuous and tempestuous conduct. The latter would be sure to excite bitter opposition, strife and jealousy or hatred.

A child born on this day may have fine initiative and the power to put over important projects by its energy, audacity and determination. At the same time, its indomitable will, impulsiveness and perhaps quarrelsome nature may invite defeat and unpopularity.

For Sunday, December 18

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a very interesting and intriguing one, with much of a devastating nature forecast in both the private and business associations. It spells upheaval and surprising and perplexing adventures, with probably a tinge of the romantic and dramatic. Affairs of social and emotional incitement call for new environs, arranged probably by secrecy or subtlety.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of thrilling adventure, with sudden change, dramatic experiences and devastation reaction in business and in the social and sentimental life. Unpredictable events demand change.

A child born on this day may be romantic, adventurous and audacious, as well as being fond of change, thrills and the romantic. It may also love intrigue.

EDITORIAL

Forgetting the strife and tumult of the world—the threat of war and dictatorship, our minds again turn to the holy thought of Christmas. With this thought also comes the realization of what Christmas means to us and what it has meant to people down through the ages. The first traces of the observance of Christmas are found about the time of the Emperor Commodus who reigned from 180 to 192 A. D. Although the people at that time observed Christmas, it does not appear that there was any uniformity in observing this day. Some held the festival in the month of May or April, others in January. They did not celebrate it in December as we do, because at that time the rainy season was at its worst.

Today, Christmas is universally set for December 25 by the peoples who celebrate this glorious day. It is customary all over the civilized world to exchange gifts at this time as a token of good will among friends. Programs are given in honor of Christmas by the schools and other social organizations to remind us that once again we are to forget all hatred of our fellow-men and think only of how we can use our influence to better ourselves and those around us. Yule Program Offered
At Social Club Session

Carols, Piano and Readings Fill
Evening

A delightful program of music interspersed with readings was presented at the December meeting of the Women's Social club of the Presbyterian church Friday, the social room. Mrs. James offitt and Mrs. Melvin Yates sang traditional carols, with Miss Mills Clarke at the piano.
Mrs. Theodore Huston played selections of unusual modern piano music and Mrs. W. W. Robinson sang Christmas poems selected by Mrs. E. O. Crites for the entertainment of approximately 50 guests.

Mrs. Hulse Hays, president, opened the meeting, Mrs. Charles resbach leading the group in prayer. Mrs. Leland Pontius, secretary, read the minutes of the meeting and routine business was disposed of. It was decided to send a Christmas card to Mrs.
Anley Lewis, a club member who spending the winter with her other at Guthrie, Okla. A large quantity of food was received at the session and was turned over to the Benevolent association for Christmas baskets for the poor.

Mrs. Robinson presented Mrs. offitt and Mrs. Yates who enjoyed the program with duet arrangements of "Away in a Manna", the traditional air, and "The first Noel", arranged by John arner, with Miss Clarke at the piano. Mrs. Robinson read two poems preceding the piano solos
Mrs. Huston. For her first section, Mrs. Huston played "The Illwaco Cakewalk", Debussy, a lique exposition of modern music. "To the Sea", McDowell, a second number, was a more real example of this same type music.

Mrs. Yates sang "I Wonder as Wander", a traditional air of erocoe county, N. C., arranged piano and voice by John Jap Niles. It was a splendid example of real American Folk music. Another group of duets by Mrs. Moffitt and Mrs. Yates included "What Child is This", traditional, and the ever-pleasing
"Silent Night."

Refreshments were served at the close of group singing of carols.
Mrs. John Bennett and Mrs. Hays presided at the attractive table.
Mrs. H. G. Stevenson was chairman of the hospitality committee.
Miss Bertha Bowers is chairman of the program committee for the January session. Other members were Mrs. Robert Kelsey, Mrs. rian Yates, and Miss Eleanor eisbach.

The hospitality committee includes Mrs. George D. McDowell, chairman, Mrs. Walter Bockart,
Miss Mary Crites, Mrs. Maxine

Bridge Club Party
Mrs. R. N. Beaty, N. Court street, entertained her bridge club at a cooperative dinner and Christmas party Friday, at her home. A miniature Christmas scene was arranged for the centerpiece of the table, where the guests were seated for dinner at 6:30 o'clock.
A large Christmas tree was in one corner of the living room, which was attractively decorated with Christmas greens. Gifts, exchanged later in the evening, were placed under the tree.

The guests included Mrs. W. E.
Wallace, Mrs. Mary G. Morris, Mrs.
Guy Culp, Mrs. Charles Carle,
Mrs. Robert Denman, Miss Adella
Huffman and Miss Lillian Young.
Auction bridge was played with prizes won by Miss Huffman and Miss Young. Mrs. Carle will entertain the club in three weeks.

Loyal Daughters Class Party
The annual Christmas party of the Loyal Daughters class of the United Brethren church was held at the home of Mrs. Musser Esbenshade with 29 members and guests enjoying the evening.

Mrs. Ray Johnson conducted the devotional service, opening the meeting with a carol, "Joy to the World" followed by prayer by Mrs.
Fred Zwicker. Mrs. Faye Porter
read the scripture lesson. A play, "Never Fail," was presented by several class members. This was given for the benefit of the Otterbein Home.

Mrs. Russell Jones took charge of the business in the absence of Mrs. Ira Valentine, president. A candle light service was held. Each member recited a verse from the Bible, with the payment of dues.

An exchange of Christmas gifts was a feature of the evening's entertainment.
Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Agnes Nau, Mrs.
Dorothy Woodward and Mrs. Russell Jones.

Merry-Makers Christmas Party
About 35 members of the Merry-Makers club of the Order of the Eastern Star enjoyed the annual Christmas party and cooperative dinner, Friday, at the home of Mrs. Fred Moeller, Lancaster Pike.

The Christmas tree with gifts for the members centered the attractive Christmas decorations of the home. Many toys were taken for the distribution of the fire department at Christmas.

Mrs. Noah Spangler, a club member who is spending the winter in Florida, sent a Christmas letter of greetings to the members.
Contests were enjoyed after the dinner served at 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Bach Hostess
Mrs. Edwin Bach, S. Court street, was hostess at the annual Christmas party of her club,
Friday.

A miniature yule log surrounded with lighted candles formed the centerpiece for the table, where eight members were seated for the covered dish dinner.

Christmas decorations in the home lent a seasonal atmosphere to the affair. Gifts were exchanged during the evening.

Auction bridge was played at two tables with Mrs. M. S. Rinehart, Mrs. James Stout and Mrs.
John Goodchild receiving prizes.

Mrs. Rockford Brown will entertain the club in two weeks on Thursday.

Queen Esther Society
The annual Christmas party of the Queen Esther society of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held at the regular meeting of the group Monday, at 4 o'clock at the church.

Washington Grange
The annual Christmas party of Washington grange will be Friday at 7:30 o'clock at Washington school auditorium.

Each member is requested to take a ten cent gift and candy for the affair.

Music Student Home
Miss Mary Gardner, Kingston, student at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo., prominent in music circles on the campus, was one of twelve girls to organize the first swing band of the college, recently.

Miss Gardner played the trumpet in the band on the Radio
Workshop broadcast over radio station KFRN at its initial appearance.

Miss Gardner is majoring in Pre-Medics. She will arrive Thursday for a two week vacation with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. P.
Gardner of Kingston, Richard and Porter Gardner, students at Ohio State university, Columbus, will arrive about the same time for their vacations at the Gardner home.

Willing Workers Class Party
Mrs. Larry Goodman was chosen president of the Willing Workers class at the reorganization meeting, Friday, at the home of Mrs.
Creation Kraft, Washington township. Miss Edwina Holderman, who has been president this year, was named vice president; Mrs. M. M.
Bowman, secretary; Mrs. Earl
Klingensmith, assistant secretary;
Mrs. Russell Palm, pianist and Mrs. Jacob Glitt, assistant pianist.
Other officers of the class will be appointed and announced at the January session.

Thirty-six members and visitors enjoyed the Christmas party which followed the election. Miss Holder-man presided at the meeting and the Rev. L. S. Metzler was in charge of the devotionals, reading the Christmas story from the second chapter of St. Luke. Mrs.
A. W. Bosworth and Mrs. Glitt were received in the membership of the class.

The mystery sisters were revealed through the exchange of gifts with names enclosed. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. Bowman will entertain the January session of the class.

Mistletoe Charity Ball
Carleton Brooks and his ten piece orchestra will furnish the music for dancing at the tenth annual Mistletoe Charity Ball Monday, Dec. 26, at Memorial Hall.

Two vocalists are included in the organization which is a well known musical unit of southern Ohio. It is appearing at a dance given this week-end at the Elk's club, Athens.

From all indications the dance will be outstanding this year, as the various committees are reporting successful plans for their work much earlier than usual.

With the younger fry arriving from college day by day, interesting holiday plans are discussed on every occasion. This dance, and the annual New Year's Ball of the Elk's club seem to be the highlights of the season.

Mrs. Donald H. Watt, general chairman of the dance committee, announces that a unique scheme of decoration for Memorial Hall has been worked out by Hildeburn Martin, the decorations being even more lavish than usual.

Another feature for the affair will be the door prize, a gift to the charity ball from R. L. Brehmer.

Yule Program Offered At Social Club Session

Carols, Piano and Readings Fill Evening

A delightful program of music interspersed with readings was presented at the December meeting of the Women's Social club of the Presbyterian church Friday, the social room. Mrs. James Moffitt and Mrs. Melvin Yates sang traditional carols, with Miss Bebe Mills Clarke at the piano. Mrs. Theodore Huston played selections of unusual modern piano music and Mrs. W. W. Robinson read Christmas poems selected by Mrs. E. O. Crites for the entertainment of approximately 50 guests.

Mrs. Hulse Hays, president, opened the meeting, Mrs. Charles Resbach leading the group in prayer. Mrs. Leland Pontius, secretary, read the minutes of the meeting and routine business was disposed of. It was decided to send a Christmas card to Mrs. Stanley Lewis, a club member who is spending the winter with her mother at Guthrie, Okla. A large quantity of food was received at the session and was turned over to the Benevolent association for Christmas baskets for the needy.

Mrs. Robinson presented Mrs. Moffitt and Mrs. Yates who opened the program with duet arrangements of "Away in a Manger," the traditional air, and "The First Noel," arranged by John Palmer, with Miss Clarke at the piano. Mrs. Robinson read two poems preceding the piano solos. Mrs. Huston, for her first selection, Mrs. Huston played "The Willow's Cakewalk," Debussy, a unique exposition of modern music. "To the Sea," McDowell, a second number, was a more traditional example of this same type of music.

Mrs. Yates sang "I Wonder as I Wander," a traditional air oferokee county, N. C., arranged by piano and voice by John Jacob Niles. It was a splendid example of real American Folk music. Another group of duets by Mrs. Moffitt and Mrs. Yates included "What Child is This," traditional, and the ever-pleasing "Silent Night."

Refreshments were served at the close of group singing of carols. Mrs. John Bennett and Mrs. Hays presided at the attractive table. Mrs. H. G. Stevenson was chairman of the hospitality committee. Miss Bertha Bowers is chairman of the program committee for the January session. Other members present were Mrs. Robert Kelsey, Mrs. Stanley Yates, and Miss Eleanor Resbach.

The hospitality committee includes Mrs. George D. McDowell, chairman, Mrs. Walter Bockart, Mrs. Mary Crites, Mrs. Maxine

STARS SAY—

For Saturday, December 17

THERE ARE indications of a particularly lively and perhaps strenuous day, according to the lunar as well as mutual aspects. Nevertheless, there may be much high pressure activity that is not of a particularly harmonious nature. A tendency to rash, impetuous and irritating conduct may incite enmity, jealousy and opposition. Speculation and new matters may prove gainful if managed with proper restraint.

Those whose birthday it is on the eve of a year of much activity and enterprise, with much to be gained in speculation, new projects and major interests if they are not put in jeopardy by rash, impetuous and tempestuous conduct. The latter would be sure to excite bitter opposition, strife and jealousy or hatred.

A child born on this day may have fine initiative and the power to put over important projects by its energy, audacity and determination. At the same time, its indomitable will, impetuosity and perhaps quarrelsome nature may invite defeat and unkindness.

For Sunday, December 18

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a very interesting and intriguing one, with much of a devastating nature forecast in both the private and business associations. It spells upheaval and surprising and perplexing adventures, with probably a tinge of the romantic and dramatic. Affairs of social and emotional incitement call for new environs, arranged probably by secrecy or subtlety.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of thrilling adventure, with sudden change, dramatic experiences and devastation reaction in business and in the social and sentimental life. Unpredictable events demand change.

A child born on this day may be romantic, adventurous and audacious, as well as being fond of change, thrills and the romantic. It may also love intrigue.

Music Groups Observe Christmas

EDITORIAL

Forgetting the strife and tumult of the world—the threat of war and dictatorship, our minds again turn to the holy thought of Christmas. With this thought also comes the realization of what Christmas means to us and what it has meant to people down through the ages.

The first traces of the observance of Christmas are found about the time of the Emperor Commodus who reigned from 180 to 192 A. D. Although the people at that time observed Christmas, it does not appear that there was any uniformity in observing this day. Some held the festival in the month of May or April, others in January. They did not celebrate it in December as we do, because at that time the rainy season was at its worst.

Today, Christmas is universally set for December 25 by the peoples who celebrate this glorious day. It is customary all over the civilized world to exchange gifts at this time as a token of good will among friends. Programs are given in honor of Christmas by the schools and other social organizations to remind us that once again we are to forget all hatred of our fellow-men and think only of how we can use our influence to better ourselves and those around us. But the greatest deed performed in reverence of this day is the helping of the less fortunate people, to whom Christmas would otherwise be just another day of struggle. Yet, just by a little thoughtfulness and sacrifice on someone's part it becomes a day of thankfulness and reverence.

If we could only have Christmas every day of the year what a grand world this would be! Let me wish everyone a "Merry Christmas."

C. H. S. DEBATORS HOLD PRACTICE WITH EAST HIGH

Samuel R. Johnson, debate coach, received word Tuesday that his invitation for a practice debate had been accepted by East high of Columbus. Some time after Christmas vacation Circleville's negative will debate at East high and then East high's negative, in turn will come to Circleville.

Mr. Johnson is planning a practice debate. Members of the club, not on the varsity squad, will compete in this debate. Mr. Johnson states that this debate will not only aid members of the squad by giving them new ideas, but will also prove a valuable asset to the school next year, by giving it experienced debaters to take the places of those who graduated.

Norma Jean Betts and Margaret Good are preparing a first affirmative speech for this debate. Paul Turner will uphold the second affirmative. The negative team will be composed of Ruth Bowers and Eleanor McDill.

Debaters have been holding regular meetings each day during the last week. Due to the recent Lima conference, members of the club are giving much time to the study of our Latin-American relations and their influence on the debate question.

Exhibits of Christmas projects made by the boys in C. F. Zaenglein's manual arts department will be a feature of the school's Christmas decoration.

So that the patrons of the Christmas Vesper services may see the exhibits, they will be arranged in the lower hall of the building. Projects will remain on the bulletin boards in the hall until Tuesday afternoon.

Among the projects are hand carved and inlaid desk trays, hammered and etched copper work, desk calendars, and novelty duck sewing sets—complete with scissors holder, pincushion, spool holder, and needle drawer.

Projects are the work of Mr. Zaenglein's seventh, eighth, ninth, and tenth grade classes.

XMAS CARDS DESIGNED

Candles, Christmas tree, bells, and many other Christmas symbols were made by members of the high school art classes Tuesday, when they designed Christmas cards.

Spatier work was the method the pupils used. The cards were made by using different colors of paint on colored paper. Christmas greetings were inscribed upon the cards in gold and silver lettering.

Shafer, Bernice Strawser, and Lena Webbe, altos.

Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 21, at 2:15, Mixed Glee club selections, the tableau, and senior girls' carols will be repeated in a high school assembly. To this program will be added several carols to be sung by the student body. School will be dismissed at 3:00.

PUBLIC HEALTH LEAGUE NEARING CONCLUSION OF ANNUAL SEAL SALE

$1,500 SOUGHT IN CAMPAIGN TO OBLITERATE T. B.

Circleville Schools Give $30.50 To Collection; Many Persons Tardy

With only a week remaining in its drive to reach an aggregate collection of $1,500, its quota for 1938, the Pickaway Public Health league is taking steps, Saturday, to put on a last minute campaign to complete the anti-tuberculosis program. Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, executive secretary of the league, declared Saturday that $743.93 had been contributed for health seals. "There are many of our patrons who have not returned the money for their seals," Miss Dunlap said, "but we anticipate much activity in the next week." She expressed confidence that the seal sale would go over the top. Any persons who have not yet received seals may obtain them at the Hamilton and Ryan drugstore or the Crist department store. The schools helped materially in the last week when each teacher was given a sheet of 100 seals which were sold to the pupils of the home rooms. A total of $30.50 was collected. Circleville high contributed $9.19, Corwin $4.95, Franklin $6.53, High $4.33 and Walnut $5.50. The county Public Health league carries on an intensive program against tuberculosis, much of the money contributed being kept in Pickaway county for work here. Miss Dunlap attended a meeting Thursday in Columbus at which time the state health league program was discussed. Included among the speakers were Governor-elect John Bricker, Dr. E. L. Brady, Dr. Charles Doan, Robert G. Patterson, executive secretary of the Ohio Public Health association, and others.

Although Garner was not expected to change his previous policy of not discussing anything in public, the first conference of the year between Mr. Roosevelt and the vice president will be watched closely for any hint of the attitude of the two leaders of the Democratic party on administration policies. Through Garner's inmates, it has been known for some time that he is not in agreement with many administration policies, particularly continuation of the pump-priming program. Despite differences, however, he and Mr. Roosevelt have maintained friendly personal relations. Garner returns, hailed by friends in several sections of the country as a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination at the 1940 convention. In Texas a Garner-for-President club already has been formed and there was little doubt that the Texas convention delegates would boom him as their favorite son candidate.

$1,500 SOUGHT
IN CAMPAIGN TO OBLITERATE T. B.

Circleville Schools Give $30.50 To Collection;
Many Persons Tardy

With only a week remaining in its drive to reach an aggregate collection of $1,500, its quota for 1938, the Pickaway Public Health league is taking steps, Saturday, to put on a last minute campaign to complete the anti-tuberculosis program. Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, executive secretary of the league, declared Saturday that $743.93 had been contributed for health seals.

"There are many of our patrons who have not returned the money for their seals," Miss Dunlap said, "but we anticipate much activity in the next week." She expressed confidence that the seal sale would go over the top.

Any persons who have not yet received seals may obtain them at the Hamilton and Ryan drugstore or the Crist department store.

The schools helped materially in the last week when each teacher was given a sheet of 100 seals which were sold to the pupils of the home rooms. A total of $30.50 was collected. Circleville high contributed $9.19, Corwin $4.95, Franklin $6.55, High $4.33 and Walnut $5.50.

The county Public Health league carries on an intensive program against tuberculosis, much of the money contributed being kept in Pickaway county for work here.

Miss Dunlap attended a meeting Thursday in Columbus at which time the state health league program was discussed. Included among the speakers were Governor-elect John Bricker, Dr. E. L. Brady, Dr. Charles Doan, Robert G. Paterson, executive secretary of the Ohio Public Health association, and others.

In the afternoon, Mr. Roosevelt and Garner will confer privately on next year's plans.

Although Garner was not expected to change his previous policy of not discussing anything in public, the first conference of the year between Mr. Roosevelt and the vice president will be watched closely for any hint of the attitude of the two leaders of the Democratic party on administration policies.

Through Garner's inmates, it has been known for some time that he is not in agreement with many administration policies, particularly continuation of the pump-priming program. Despite differences, however, he and Mr. Roosevelt have maintained friendly personal relations.

Garner returns, hailed by friends in several sections of the country as a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination at the 1940 convention. In Texas a Garner-for-President club already has been formed and there was little doubt that the Texas convention delegates would boom him as their favorite-son candidate.
